NINE ARE KILLED IN EXPLOSION

MURDER CHARGES MAY BE WITHDRAWN

ALLEGED DROWNING OF THREE MEN NEAR HOUSTON IS PROBED

THREE CHARGES MURDER FILED AGAINST EACH OF THREE SURVIVORS

HOUSTON, April 3.—(AP)—George Peyton, head of the police homicide squad, this afternoon reported to Chief of Police Charles McPhail that an investigation had not disclosed sufficient evidence on which to base murder charges against Nick Gress, W. D. (Bill) Cunningham and Robert Mahaley. Peyton recommended that the charges be dismissed.

HOUSTON, April 3.—(AP)—Three murder charges each against three men were filed before a justice of the peace here today in connection with the drowning in the San Jacinto river Monday night of three men, two whites and one negro. The three charged were Nick Gress, W. D. (Bill) Cunningham and Robert Mahley.

Gress, Cunningham and Mahley with the three dead men, Albert Miller, Joe Scott and Peter McGee, the last of whose bodies was recovered last night, were at first reported to have been en route to a fishing camp when the cooling connection on the motor in their boat became loose, flooding and sinking the boat. The survivors reported the three dead man had been drowned.

Charges against the three were filed after two women, Avis Larry, 18, and Mrs. Amie Proctor, 19, had been submitted to all night questioning by police and Assistant District Attorney Leland Cox. Cox claimed the women made statements tending to show foul play. Cox said the women admitted being present before and after the men were drowned, indicating suspicious circumstances.

None of the men charged were

DETROIT GIRL IS KIDNAPPED WHILE RETURNING HOME

LITTLE BROTHER OF SIX YEAR OLD GIRL TOLD STORY STRANGE MAN

DETROIT, April 3.—(AP)—The story of a nine-year-old boy and those of several of his school mates were practically the only clues on which were basing their search today for six-year-old Mary Suboch and her kndnapper.

The girl and older brother, Joseph, were picked up by a strange man in an automobile while on their way home from school in Dearborn, a suburb, Tuesday at noon. They were driven about 40 miles before the boy was put out near the Detroit city hall on the pretext of going to buy some candy Joseph said. At that point the trail of the kidnapper was lost.

Neither the Suboch family nor relatives were able to offer any motive for the kidnapping of the girl. It was learend today that Mrs. Suboch recently was bequeathed $3000 by a half brother who died at South River, N. Y.

Suboch is employed in an automobile factory.

Kansas Man Ran Amuck; Three Persons Dying

WICHITA, Kas., April 3.—(AP)—After killing Bob Boaz, as he sat at the wheel of his truck in front of a confectionery here, Mac. Serells, 28, of Kismet, Kas., fled in a motor car to a residence and there turned his gun on himself and Miss Bonnie White. It was believed both would die.

Serells told physicians he was justified in shooting the couple "because they were selling me dope."

HELD ON SEVEN CHARGES.

VERNON, April 3.—(AP)—R. E. Martin was released on $7,000 bond here today on seven indictments in conection with an alleged shortage of approximately $14,000 of the Farmers State Bank, of which he formerly was assistant cashier. Five of the indictments charged embezzlement and two false entries.

Rangers Search For Yancy Story Wanted On Several Charges

DALLAS, April 3.—(AP)—A search for Yancy Story, under a five-year prison sentence for robbing a bank in Denton county, has been instituted, Ranger Captain Tom Hickman said here today.

Story, Denton county rancher, was at liberty under bonds reported to total more than $25,000 on charges involving bank robbery, turkey theft, assault to murder and burglary. Most of these chargegs were pending in district court here, officers said.

The prison sentence was assessed Story by a jury in Marlin in connection with the robbery of a bank at Krum, Denton county. The case was sent to Marlin on a change of venue from Sherman after it had been sent to that city on an appeal from a 99-year sentence assessed in Dallas.

Story appeared in court both at Sherman and Dallas in a wheel chair, claiming he had been injured in an automobile accident while at liberty on bond.

Agreement Is Prepared.

Story and his attorney were in Dallas a few weeks ago. John Bond, court reporter for Judge C. A. Pippen, said the men entered into an agreement which he prepared. The reporter said the agreement called for dismissal of all pending indictments against Story in return for his promise to withdraw his appeal and serve a 100-day jail sentence for turkey theft in Denton county and the five-year prison term for the Krum robbery.

According to Captain Hickman, Story's attorney delivered a signed copy of the motion to withdraw the appeal in the Krum case, promising to file the motion in district court at Marlin. After some time had passed and Story did not file the motion, the ranger said he understood Story's attorney filed the copy and the judge at Marlin had the appeal withdrawn.

The mandate from the court of criminal appeals has been returned to the court at Marlin, advising the appeal had been dismissed, but Story could not be located.

Story in Poitics.

Captain Hickman said he understood Story was playing around "in the brush" up in Denton county, intent on running for sheriff of that county.

Story, according to information reaching Hickman, claimed he did not agree to withdraw any appeal and that any motion filed was without his permission.

Judge Pippen declared none of the cases on his docket against Story had been dismissed.

"And I'll see to it that they are not dismissed until after I am notified he is already in the penitentiary," the judge added. "And if that fellow doesn't show up pretty soon, I'll make some who are on his bonds here do some squirming."

Bond Forfeited.

DENTON, April 3.—(AP)—Judge Ben W. Boyd in district court here today forfeited an appeal bond which Yancy Story had made after he had been assessed a jail sentence of 100 days and a fine of $200 on a charge of stealing turkeys. The jail sentence was to run concurrently with a five-year prison sentence assessed him in Marlin on a charge of robbing a bank at Krum.

HOUSE AND SENATE CONFEREES MAKING EFFORT SETTLE BILL

MORE THAN TWELVE HUNDRED DISPUTED POINTS IN TARIFF MEASURE

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP)—The stupendous task of bringing the house and senate into agreement upon the 1,250 disputed points of the tariff bill was taken in hand today by conference committees representing the two branches of congress.

The measure, now more than a year in the making, moved into another and a final stage of its progress toward enactment, and the oratorical tumult that has attended its formulation was replaced by the quiet of a committee room from which the public was barred.

Six major disputes confronted the conferees, all of which they are to bring back to their respective houses for record votes before a final agreement is reached. On the remainder of the controverted points the work of the conference consisted in arriving at compromise figures between the rates approved by the house and those written into the bill by the senate.

The house conferees were bound by a gentleman's agreement to come to no decision on sugar, cement, lumber and shingle rates without first seeking the advice of the chamber as a whole. A similar

HAWKS CONTINUES FLIGHT BY GLIDER ACROSS CONTINENT

LEFT TULSA THURSDAY MORNING FOR EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL., NIGHT STOP

TULSA, Okla., April 3.—(AP)—Continuing his trans-continental glider flight, Captain Frank Hawks took off from Garland airport here at 10:15 a. m. today with East St. Louis, Ill., his goal for tonight's stop. His departure, planned for 7 a. m., was delayed by fog and a low ceiling.

A stop at Springfield, Mo., after passing over Claremore, Vinita and Miami, Okla., was the only one scheduled on the flight to East St. Louis.

The noted flier's "air train," in which the cabin glider Eaglet is "coupled" with a 500-foot cable to a small biplane piloted by J. D. Jernigan, Jr., left San Diego, Cal., last Sunday on a schedule calling for its arrival in New York City next Sunday.

The flight is being made as an experiment to test the possibilities of gliders as freight and passenger carriers in suggested aerial trains.

Reaches Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 3.—(AP)—Captain Frank Hawks, transcontinental flier piloting a glider towed by an airplane on a proposed flight from San Diego, Calif., to New York City, landed here at 12:55 o'clock this afternoon.

Carraso was shot fatally on Strickel's ranch in Cochran county last July 18. The trial started Monday. Shortly after the verdict was read, Strickel was arrested. His attorney today sought his release on appeal bond.

Wall Street's Junk Man, Dealer In Securities of Undoubted Badness, Dead

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP)—Wall street's Junk man, Roland M. Smythe, dealer in extinct securities, is dead.

Engraved paper, representing billions in forlorn hopes, burst bubbles and defunct wild cats passed through his hands during the half century he conducted his unlue business from a little office at 2 Broadway.

Mr. Smythe died yesterday at his home in Brooklyn. He was 75 years old.

He embarked on his unusual business career when in the early 80's, while employed by a stock brokerage firm, he was handed some repudiated South Carolina bonds with instructon to destroy them. He sold one through another broker to the state of South Carolina for $1,200, and, not caring for the rush of the street, he thereafter turned his attention to a trade in obsolete and extinct securities.

He became an expert authority on the value—if any—of old securities, and was frequently consulted by bankers and brokers concerning the worth of stock and bond certificates which came into their hands.

Now and then some of his dodoes came to life. One time he sold a Yonkers doctor enough bonds of a Pennsylvania coal company to paper the walls of his den. The doctor paid $40 for the bundle. Coal was later discovered on the property, and the doctor was paid $14,000 for his "wallpaper."

The Bronchos, champions of Texas, were heavy favorites in the tournament.

The Cadets, won the game by long distance shooting and exceptional guarding. The Broncos, trailing by a 13 to 22 margin with

THREE NATIONS IN COMPLETE ACCORD IN NAVAL CONFERENCE

SEEKING TO BRING ITALY AND FRANCE INTO FINAL AGREEMENT AT LONDON

LONDON, April 3.—(AP)—Official announcement was made at American delegation headquarters today that the Americans, British and Japanese were in complete accord.

The Americans and British, at a meeting with the Japanese at St. James' palace, indicated acceptance of the Japanese reservations.

The only points to be settled were details relating to Japanese reservations on the scrapping and replacing of ships in order to keep their dockyards working. It was said there would be no factor of difficulty in any of the Japanese reservations.

Senator Reed, credited by his colleagues with having been instrumental in solving the American, British and Japanese problem, made the following statement to newspaper men after the meeting:

"I cannot too strongly impress on you the fine spirit in which the Japanese and British have met us. There was no disposition to quibble on the part of any one of the three delegations.

"All three delegations have been frank and fair. I cannot imagine more pleasant negotiations than these have been. The result was not a victory for any one, but an honorable and reasonable settlement between the three."

Italy Asked Enter Security Agreement

LONDON, April 3.—(AP)—Italy has been asked to join Great Britain and France in a mutual security arrangement affecting the Mediterranean, it became known today. Meanwhile Arthur Henderson and Aristide Briand, French foreign secretary, continued their negotiations regarding the exetnt to which Great Britain will guarantee France against aggression.

Despite some indications of further difficulties for the five power naval conference, Colonel Stimson, head of the American delegation, said:

"The situation is much improved since last week, and I am much more optimistic of a five power agreement now than I was at that time."

Some conference observers saw in the invitaiton to Italy to join in the Mediterranean security arrangement a jockeying by the

UNCLE SAM'S STATISTICAL FACTORY FUNCTIONING OVER ENTIRE NATION SMOOTHLY

BY BESS FURMAN
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP)—Uncle Sam's enormous statistical factory, the census, was functioning busily throughout the United States today, with his 120,000 workers turning out facts and figures under a piece-work system.

The enumerator who came, or who will come, knocking at the door to include your tiny thread of information in the great fabric of fact is being paid "by the piece," so much per person and so much per farm enumerated. The pay envelopes vary somewhat according to conditions, for instance, the camping out women census taker down in Texas who must travel 80 miles before she makes her first enumeration, is receiving a higher rate than the enumerator who is swiftly tallying the inmates of a penitentiary, all of whom are undoubtedly present and already a matter of record.

The 1930 rate of pay was not announced by the census bureau, but it was said it would average from $5 to $8 per day. In the census of 1920 nearly all enumerators were paid 4 cents per name and 30 cents per farm.

Census workers are putting in as much overtime as they choose, the one rule being that the job has to be done in two weeks in urban centers and one month in the rural districts.

All the census workers are striving for thoroughness as well as speed. They are expected to enumerate about 95 per cent of the population the first time through a district, and to go back soon thereafter and catch up the loose ends.

The supervisors are also paid by the job, a flat $1800 plus an additional $1 for each 1000 persons counted within his district and for each 100 farms therein. Thirty of these supervisors are women. It is a six months' job for each supervisor with the promise that he will be paid off as soon as he counts and announces the population for each several divisions, township, precinct, county, borough or city, within his district.

This census is the first in which the big mill has produced the local prelminary statistics, namely each community to display its own little piece of figured census cloth long before the tremendous national tapestry is complete.

EFFORTS MADE TO STEAL MISSOURI PRISON DYNAMITE

JEFFERSON CITY, April 3—(AP)—Missouri penitentiary officials today were investigating a suspected plot to steal some dynamite from the state penitentiary explosive storage house at the prison rock quarries a mile south of here.

Director Frank Jones and Warden Leslie Rudolph said a guard found a window has been broke in the building yesterday and a lock on an iron chest where the dynamite is stored had been tampered with. It was not determined whether any trusty convict was involved. or whether the attempt to steal the explosive had any connection with last week's mutiny at the penitentiary which culminated in a riot in the dining hall Thursday.

NO-CONFIDENCE FOR BRUENING MINISTRY FAILED THURSDAY

BERLIN, April 3.—(AP)—A motion of no-confidence in the new ministry of Chancellor Heirich Bruening was defeated by the Reichstag this forenoon. It was proposed by the socialists and communists. The nationalists, who held the balance of power, refused to support the government's opposition.

The motion was beaten 252 to 187. Dr. Hugenberg, leader of the nationalists, personally appeared on the rostrum and announced decision of his party not to support the opposition move.

Had the government fallen Chancellor Bruening was understood to have had the authorization of President Von Hindenburg to dissolve the Reichstag.

SERIES OF BLASTS IN FIREWORKS PLANT PENNSYLVANIA TOWN

SEVERAL KILLED AND MANY OTHERS INJURED IN TERRIFIC EXPLOSIONS TODAY

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—(AP)—At least nine persons were killed and scores of others injured in a series of explosions today at the plant of the Pennsylvania Fire Works Display Company, Inc., at Devon, 16 miles west of Philadelphia. About 35 injured persons were taken to the Bryn Mawr hospital.

Most of the dead and injured were employes of the plant. Other bodies were found in the debris. They were badly burned.

The plant consisted of ten small buildings on a seven acre tract of land near the Pennsylvania railroad's main line to the west.

Like a roar of a battery of artillery the first explosion let loose at about 9:50, sending debris through the air for long distances. Two other detonations followed immediately, and for twenty minutes there were explosions like the rattle of machine guns. The heavy detonations were felt more than twenty miles away. The blasts were distinctly felt in the upper part of Philadelphia and in New Jersey.

Many windows in a Pennsylvania railroad local train at Devon station were broken and some of the passengers cut by glass. They were treated and sent to their homes. After the explosion hundreds of persons crowded the four tracks of the railroad. Railroad men summoned help from the Valley Forge Military academy and 250 cadets went on duty patrolling the railroad. Cadets with improvised flags were sent up and down the railroad to caution train crews of the danger from persons running on the right of way.

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—(AP)—Five persons were reported killed and at least a dozen injured in an explosion at the plant of Penn-

REPORTER IS DEAD AFTER EFFORTS TO "MAKE A STORY"

FORT WORTH, April 3.—(AP)—As a reporter, George Gambien, 26, learned to fly last year to "make a story" series for his paper, the Fort Worth Press. Last Friday, he took his first ride in a glider, both for the thrill and again "to get a story." Today comrades in flying and in newspaper work mourned him and admired his nerviness. Gambien was fatally injured and died yesterday shortly after the glider he was flying crashed north of Fort Worth.

Gambien is survived by his mother, Mrs. Lerah Sekins of Oklahoma City. He formerly worked on the Cleveland Press and prior to that on Oklahoma City papers.

Roaming the Realm of County Sports

By DELMORE OLSEN.

Plans are practically completed for the Currie Invitation Track and field meet which will be held Friday, it was announced Thursday morning by E. C. Butler, superintendent of the Currie school and sponsor of the meet. At least twenty schools in Navarro, Limestone and Freestone counties will be on hand for the one day meet.

A fast oval track and 100 yard straightway has been constructed at the Currie school and the meet is being held to dedicate that new portion of the school's athletic field. The meet will be run off practically the same as the county track meet, with the exception of the longer races and two field events.

One of the attractions of the meet will be races for girls over distances of 30, 60, 220 yards. This is a new addition to track meets in Navarro county, but in a number of surrounding counties it is incorporated in the annual track and field meet.

The Magnolia Oilers, which laid claim to the Navarro County Amateur baseball championship last season, will make its initial bow to fans Sunday afternoon at the Municipal Park in a double header attraction against the Hillsboro Independents.

The Magnolia team will present a revamped lineup, and fans in the county are anxious to see the new outfit in action to size up the team in comparison with last year's aggregation. The games Sunday will open an intensive two week practice period for the Oilers in preparation for the opening of the Navarro County Amateur Baseball League Sunday, April 20.

The White's Chapel nine seems to be going great guns at the present time, with shutout victories over the Humble Oil and Refining company, Mildred; and the Rinkey Dink club of Corsicana. It is understood tht the American Well & Prospecting company nine will furnish opposition for the White's Chapel club Sunday afternoon on the White's Chapel diamond.

Weeks, star hurler for the White'c Chapel team, has been credited with both shutout victories, and has been pitching great ball in the spring games. If he can continue this pace during the summer months, especially the dog days of August, the White's Chapel nine will be in the running for the championship of the County Baseball League.

A meeting of team managers and officers of the Navarro County Baseball League will be held Saturday evening, April 5th, in the Daily Sun office to find out how many teams in the county have paid the entrance fee of $25 and to appoint a committee to arrange a schedule for the summer months.

It is expected that the league will be composed of the Magnolia Oilers, American Well and Prospecting team, both of Corsicana; White's Chapel, Blooming Grove, Cen-Tex Richland, Humble Oil and Refining company, Mildred; and Bazette. We understand that the Cotton Mill is going to have a baseball team this year, and it is possible that the team will enter the league, definite action or announcement from officials in charge of the team has not been made.

The Cotton Mill could put a fast team in the league with several veterans of years campaigning forming the backbone of the team. Veteran players with which the season could be started are Shook, Bondurant, Harris, Strum, Griffin, and several others.

John Griffin, who for years has been rated as one of the best amateur pitchers in Navarro county, and although he does not have the blinding speed and curve on the ball he had in the past, is still good for a game once a week, relying on skill and experience. In years gone by, Griffin just about had things his own way when he stepped on the mound, and it was said that all he had to do to win a game was to toss his glove on the mound. Amateur baseball players still have a great deal of respect for the good right wing of Griffin's and this coupled with the great experience gained in playing the national pastime would make him a very valuable man for the team.

We certainly hope the Cotton Mill nine comes into the league. It is a colorful outfit and can play ball like nobody's business. The loss of "Sally" Newcomb, catcher; Paul Rash, slugging first baseman; and several other players hurt the team but we believe that youngsters could be used and a good team developed.

County teams interested in joining the "Pewee" baseball league under the rules outlined by the American Leagion post at Purdon are requested to meet at the Corsicana Y.M.C.A. Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

DISCH SIGNED FOR FIVE YEARS COACH TEXAS BASEBALL

AUSTIN, April 3.—(AP)—William J. Disch, known as "Uncle Billy," has been "sewed up" by the University of Texas for another five years as coach of baseball. He was voted a raise of $500 annually by the Athletic Council yesterday when it agred to pay him $6,000 a year.

Disch now is working on his 19th conference year and has won 17 conference championships. During his career he has trained some of professional baseball's best known players.

The council last week re-employed Fred Walker as head basketball coach after Disch and Clyde Littlefield, football and track coach, protested his retention. But, after the council had voted to give Walker another contract, Littlefield and Disch congratulated him and announced they had buried the hatchet.

"HAM AND EGG" TOURNAMENT WILL BE STAGED FRIDAY AND PLENTY OF ACTION EXPECTED

Everything will be in readiness for the golf tournament of the country club membership Friday afternoon and one of the most interesting meets ever staged by the club is anticipated by the tournament committee headed by M. H. DeWitt. All male members of the club have been placed in foursomes and a large percentage of the members are expected to be on hand. Many have never played a game of golf, but none need hold back on that account as there will be a number of others in the same classification. Mr. DeWitt announced Wednesday afternoon that everyone was urged to be on hand even if their partners or opponents could not be present, as a number will be replaced in the competition Friday.

Sidney K. Brietz, product of North Carolina, is the captain of the "Hams" and Col. G. C. (Jake) Hudson, late of Maryland, is the leader of the "Eggs."

Captain Brietz hurls the following for Captain Jake to decipher:

"F U N E M ?
"S. V. F. M.
"F U N E X ?
"S. V. F. X.
"V F M N X."

Hiszoner, the ex-mayor, John Murchison, states that he has procured his foursome an ample supply of tees for the event; so that those following his foursome will not experience any undue delays.

One of the close matches of the tournament is expected when E. D. McCarver crosses jiggers with (y) Egg Floyd Boone, club professional.

Jake emphatically declared Thursday that Sidney Brietz's bunch were "hams" in more than one way and that any slurring remarks directed at his troup was not half as bad as he thought and the actual conditions justified about the "Hams."

Spectators, if any, will have a number of opportunities to watch some wonderful golf. Many have signified their intention of following the Byron Cheney-J. S. Callicutt match; while many other customers will not doubt trail along with the J. O. Burke-Joe B. Fortson, foursome.

"Hottest" Attraction

Probably the "hottest" attraction however, will be that furnished by the foursome of T. W. Lovett, J. Frank Williams, F. P. McElwrath and Lowry Martin. Customers, that will be GOLF.

Captain Al Capone Hudson of Pokomoke, Maryland, and Captain Gyp-the-Blood Brietz of Scuffletown, N. C., will cross niblicks, and as a side bet, the loser must divulge the real reason for his having left his native state.

Captain Brietz of the "Hams" states that he has been informed that Mrs. Brietz has bet the family plate on the (y) Eggs. He further stated that he wants it distinctly understood that he will not be responsible for the debts certain to be contracted by her in this manner; and furthermore, there isn't any family plate in the first place.

Leslie Wilkes had intended to have the tournament covered by the Movietone news, but had changed his mind at the last minute. He said the censors would ruin the actual conversations, etc., and anyway it looks better than it sounds.

Anyone desiring turf can do well to follow the F. N. Drane-J. M. Dyer match and the tournament committee may prevail on City Commissioner Liston Tatum to let the new street sweeper follow this match to pick up the displaced turf.

At 6:30 o'clock Friday evening, after the conclusion of the tournament, a ham and egg banquet is to be staged for the participants at the club-house, the winning side to be entertained by the losers. Chances are that the banquet cannot be held until later, however, as some of the players will likely not have negotiated the eighteen holes.

Some of the golfers have hazarded a desire that Brietz and Hudson tie and not play the tie off and that both give the real reason for leaving North Carolina and Maryalnd, respectively.

There was some whispering about the clubhouse when City Commissioner Stroube and Mayor Wheelock took Lowry Martin of the Sun, and Ted Ferguson of the T. P. & L. under their wings for golf instruction. "The city dads are getting mixed up with the press and big business, or vice versa."

Captain Jake declares that "just wait! Just wait till we get through with that bunch of Brietz 'Hams'!" etc. etc. etc.

If any of the golfers become exhausted before they finish their eighteen holes of competition, they may finish the afternoon fishing—Floyd Boone landed a seven and one-half pound bass in the lake a few days ago, the largest yet snared there. It was a beauty, all right and excelling the catch made recently by Mark DeWitt by a half pound.

The Magnolia Oilers, premier independent team of Corsicana in amateur baseball circles, will make its initial appearance for the 1930 season next Sunday afternoon at the Municipal Park in a double header attraction against the Hillsboro Independents, it was stated Thursday morning by Hubert Joyner, manager of the Oilers.

The Magnolia team has been practicing daily for the coming fray which will open a two week's intensive training period for the locals in preparation for the opening of the Navarro County Amateur Baseball League on Sunday, April 20.

J. P. BRYSON DIED SUDDENLY AT HOME TUESDAY EVENING

PIONEER RESIDENT OF NAVARRO COUNTY BURIED IN HAMILTON CEMETERY

J. P. Bryson, aged 77 years, native of Missouri, but pioneer resident of Navarro county, died suddenly at his home just west of Corsicana, near the Cotton Belt Y, Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock and the funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with interment in the Hamilton cemetery. The funeral was conducted by J. L. Hines, minister of the Church of Christ.

Mr. Bryson had been sick for several weeks but his condition had not been thought to be serious. He was engaged in truck farming and had been in the cotton yard business many years.

Surviving are his wife, three sons, O. S. Bryson and T. T. Bryson, both of Corsicana; and J. H. Bryson, Tampico, Mexico; one daughter, Mrs. John Howell, Corsicana; and a number of other relatives.

Mr. Bryson was well-known in this section where he had resided for many years.

Pallbearers were C. A. Middleton, Earl Ellington, R. R. Owen, C. A. Gordon, E. E. Babers and Bert Crews.

The funeral was directed by the Sutherland Funeral Home.

At the grave, Judge R. R. Owen, life-long friend of Mr. Bryson, paid the following tribute:

"I come to pay a tribute at this time to the worth and character of our deceased brother. During the last few years of his life I come to know him intimately and well, and to entertain for him a very high and affectionate regard. It was his custom during these years to come to my office as often as once or twice each week, at which times he and I alone would discuss the vital matters of life and I always found him remarkably well read and informed on all the current topics and he was able to hold his own in any sort of intelligent discussion thereof.

"In the discussion of religious matters, I found that he was intensely religious and had a very strong and well grounded faith in the Holy Scriptures and that he took our Bible as the Word of God and as the expression of God's will. He was not orthodox in the sense that he was a partisan for any religious denomination, but he believed in God the Father, and in Jesus Christ His Son, and as his Saviour, and I feel that his soul is now with the Redeemed. For his lack of orthodoxy we do not condemn him, because we remember it was the then orthodox church that crucified the Son of God on the cross.

"It was but a few moments ago that there came to me an indication of a desire on the part of his loved ones that on this occasion which marks the end of his earthly career I should offer a word of tribute to his memory. What I have said has been hastily arranged and does not express all that I would like to say in his behalf and to his honor and memory, but I must not leave unimproved this opportunity to say that I regard him as one of God's noblemen, as a man who has lived a worthy, noble and helpful life; as a man of honor, worth, integrity and character, and as one who though not amassing great wealth, yet has lived an honorable, useful and helpful life, and has developed a beautiful character, the influence of which will continue as long as this world shall stand. I pay this weak tribute to his memory and state that I loved him and I honor him and regard him as one of earth's noblemen, and I know that from our intimate association he is pleased to have me offer this, my weak tribute, at this time."

Limestone Schools Get Large Sum For Rural State Aid

No, No Nanette to Be Feature Sunday At Palace Theatre

"No, No, Nanette," one of the most tuneful and uproariously funny musical comedies seen on Broadway during the past few years, has been made into an all-talking, singing and dancing picture, and will be shown at the Palace theatre, Sunday, with Bernice Claire and Alexander Gray, two New York musical comedy favorites, in the leading roles.

Miss Claire, who understudied Vivienne Segal in the New York production of "The Desert Song," and who succeeded Miss Segal in the leading role when this well known operetta toured on the road, is one of the most ingratiating and clever actresses to make her debut before the microphone. Pretty, vivacious and possessor of a pleasing singing voice, Miss Claire gives every promise of attaining great popularity in the world of screen musical comedies.

CENSUS COUNTERS STARTED ON WORK WEDNESDAY MORNING

All enumerators in this district, Navarro, Ellis, Limestone and Freestone counties, began the work of the taking of the population census Wednesday morning with the exception of one enumerator in Freestone county, Edmund L. Dupuy, district supervisor, stated Wednesday. One enumerator was unable to do the work and another is to be appointed, Mr. Dupuy said.

Pointing the unemployment census which is being taken in connection with the present census, Mr. Dupuy called the attention of the people who are being put on a special unemployment schedule if they were not at work the day preceding the enumerator's call.

The names of all gainful workers who were not at work on the day preceding the enumerator's call will be recorded on a special unemployment schedule. Not by any means all of those persons, however, will be counted as unemployed. If the person who did not work the previous day has a job of any kind, he will not be placed in another classification than with those who do not have jobs. With the information to be secured in this unemployment census, the government officials can fairly accurately secure statistics of the unemployment, loss of time, etc., in the various sections of the country and also for the various occupations, etc.

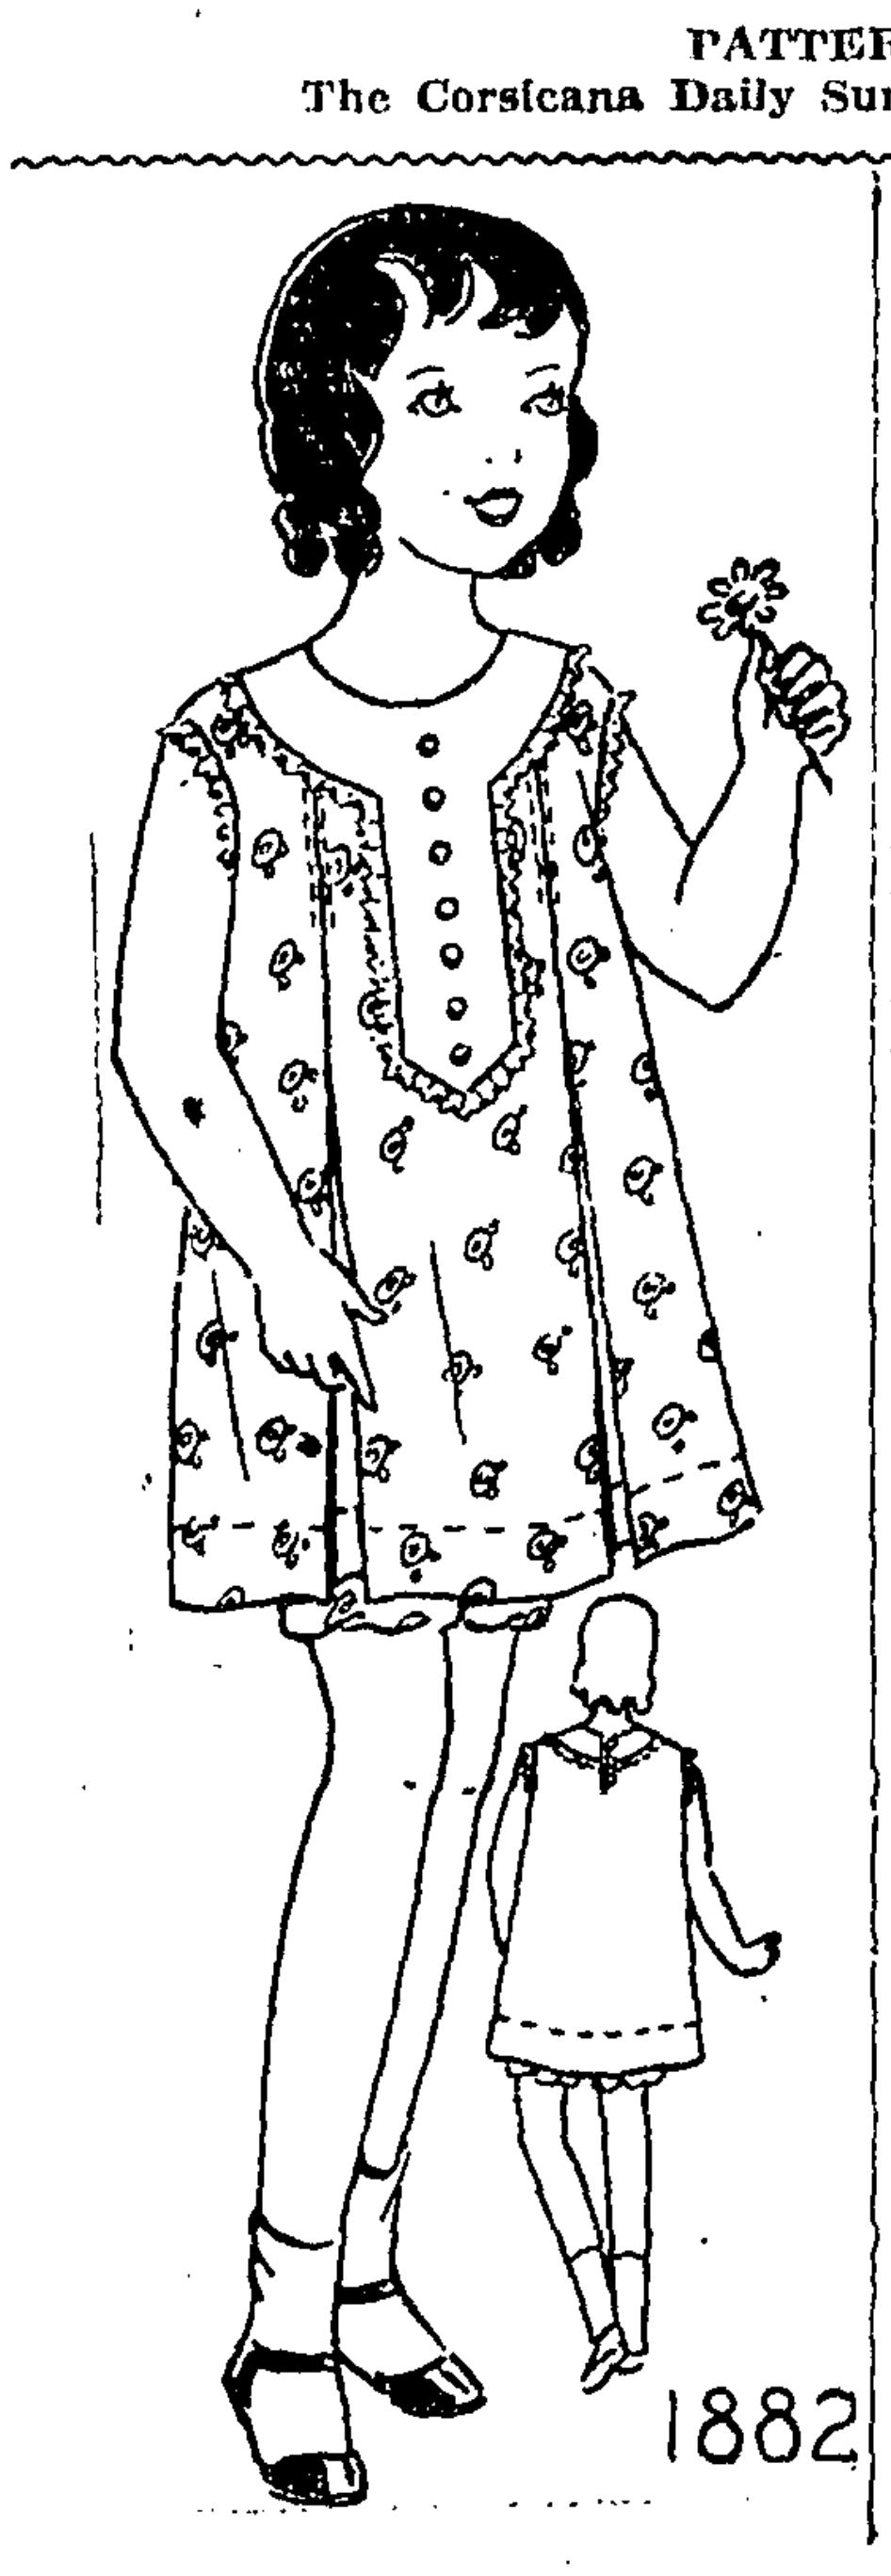
PATTERN 1882

The Corsicana Daily Sun 15c Practical Pattern



By ANNE ADAMS

Isn't this a cunning little rig for a smart little miss? The cleverly shaped yoke is most becoming and the inverted pleats afford freedom as well as grace. The frock is sleeveless, but the shoulders are cut to cover the arm a bit. Tiny pearl buttons form attractive trimming.

Design 1882 may be made of printed gingham, percale, dimity, pique, voile, etc. The yoke may be made of the same fabric, or may be of contrasting color as in the sketch. Narrow lace or embroidery gives a dainty finish.

This pattern may be ordered only in sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8. Size 2 requires 2 1-8 yards of 36 inch material and 3 yards of lace.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Our PATTERN BOOK of NEW SPRING and SUMMER STYLES is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to The Corsicana Daily Sun Pattern Department, 243 West 17th St., New York City.

IN MEMORY

Mrs. Juline Ellen Richards was born in Georgia, May 10, 1860, came to Texas early in life, was converted and joined the Baptist church and lived a true Christian life until the morning of the 26th of February, 1930, when death came and released her from this life.

Mother was one of those people who loved home life. No place was so dear to her as her home. But God thought best to call her up higher to a brighter, better home than we have here on earth. She had been sick for several months with that dreaded disease, cancer. All was done that loving hands and medical skill could accomplish but the gentle spirit broke its bonds and winged its way to the great celestial city where there is no death nor sorrow.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist church, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and a large crowd gathered, although it was raining and the roads were bad, to listen to the helpful and consoling words spoken by Brother Stanley. She was laid to rest beneath a flower-covered mound in the Pattison cemetery.

She leaves to mourn her passing a husband, R. E. Richards, five sons, Albert, Frank, Joe, Ott and Dee, and four daughters, Clemmie, Alma, Jennie and Adelia.

A dear one from us is gone,
Our home is not the same,
Our hearts are burdened with grief today
While silently we, breathe her name.

We miss thee from our home dear one,
We miss thee from thy place;
A shadow o'er our life is cast.
We miss the sunshine of thy face.

We are wont to question God's holy will;
And the wisdom of His way;
We find it hard to understand,
Just why God took her away.

But we do know his paths are peace,
Tho often sad, they lead to rest
Some day more clearly we'll understand,
He doeth all things well and for the best.

God so loved his children here below,
That a precious price he gave;
So Jesus came and died for us,
And won a victory over death and the grave.

Oh, blessed thought that Jesus came,
And bore the Cross to Calvry's hill;
And shed his blood our souls to save,
If we obey and do His will.

'Tis hard to bid a last good-bye,
To one who's love has brightened our way.
We must be courageous, hopeful and glad,
For we shall meet her again some day.

HER CHILDREN.

"Things I Ate Hurt Me"

"I HAD a severe case of indigestion," says Mrs. Bell Buckheister, 7 River St., Piedmont, S. C. "So many things that I ate hurt me, I almost quit eating.

"I would burn in my chest. I had severe headache, and such a tight, smothering feeling. I would be obliged to eat a little, then it would hurt me.

"A friend said to me: 'Why don't you take Black-Draught?'

"I was just too weak then to do my work. I began taking small doses after meals, and in just a few weeks I could eat anything I wanted to, then take my small dose of Black-Draught and feel fine. I soon regained my health and strength."

Costs only 1 cent a dose.

THE GRUNDY BILL.

Congress believes that President Hoover will sign the Grundy bill, that being the designation by popular consent of the latest revision of the tariff measure which is resulting from the last spasm of log-rolling and trading.

Various newspapers have recorded as a definite fact that the President has decided to do this. It might be urged that this is not the first time that the President has been credited with a decision as to the tariff. The jibe is undeserved. When it was printed on equally good authority that Mr. Hoover was pleased with the Democratic-Progressive coalition tariff production, that was true for the moment. It was equally true that he was satisfied with the original Hawley production, which first launched the towering rates on an unsuspecting country. It was likewise true at the time that he had no fault to find with the Smoot combination in the Senate when it erected a superstructure on the House tower.

Naturally, this uncertainty about the President's stand at various times has produced considerable criticism. Senator Connally, of Texas, said the other day: "In the welter of conflicting views, statements and interpretations as to the kind of a tariff bill the President desires it appears that Mr. Hoover is facing the tariff in all directions."

"If," suggests the New York Evening World in an editorial comment on this phase of the administration, "the special friends of the President are hurt at the cynical attitude of the average person towards him, they ought to know that this attitude is due to the utter inability of anyone to know to a certainty just where the President stands on controversial subjects."

This newspaper recites the President's conflicting positions from his first message asking a limited revision, through the reporting of the Hawley bill, which was submitted for the President's approval before it was introduced, and of which the Evening World says "Just here is where the public first become cynical," down to the Grundy revision, which pushes up the rates on sugar, on cement, and building materials generally. "And that now—with soup houses in the cities and a vast army of unemployed!"—but which it is indicated he will sign.

"Does not this record of unequalled vascillation, of marching and countermarching explain and justify the cynicism?" asks the editorial. "More than a year will have been required to win this victory of Grundy over the President of the Message, and in the end, behold the President in the Grundy procession bearing a banner!"

Disappointment in President Hoover is voiced throughout the country. The Miami Daily News declares "No President since Taft has found his inaugural day sunshine turned so soon into gloom. He has still, on the whole, the goodwill of the American people. But their expectation of a superman's performance in the presidency has obviously dwindled." The editorial concludes: "The President may yet pull through a success. But he is in desperate danger of coming through a failure."

Similar editorials are appearing in every section of the country.

Ordinarily when a President is attacked, the members of his party in Congress and the newspapers of the same political complexion hasten to his defense. But as yet no Republican explanation of the President's vascillation has been noted. His partisans content themselves with a vague assertion of the sincerity of his purpose and blame Congress for the delay in the enactment of the tariff bill. The Republican newspapers print with appropriate headlines each pretended definition of his attitude, without comment on the circumstance that it exactly contradicts the previous one. Recently a writer in the Kansas City Star, who had announced after a conferenece with the President that he was heartily in favor of the coalition's rate reductions, evolved the theory that his acceptance of the Grundy extortions was to be justified by the President's purpose to use the powers he hopes to attain under the flexible tariff provision to repair the damage.

As President Hoover, like Harding and Coolidge, has employed this provision almost exclusively to raise rates, that hypothesis is not taken very seriously.

JUST FOLKS

THE QUARREL.

They took up the quarrel the children began,
They argued and wrangled as two mothers can.
They spouted and sputtered
And mumbled and muttered,
And threatened swift vengeance as angry folks will
With language fantastic,
Unseemly, sarcastic
They tongue-lashed each other and wouldn't keep still.

Their tempers grew hot and their faces grew red.
They dished up the scandal that gossips had spread,
They hinted they knew things,
In anger they drew things,
Till breathless they fell in a heap on the floor,
And just as they sided
The neighbors divided,
So the battle will last for a year or two more.

But what of the children who started the row?
They're hand in hand playing together right now.
Without any chatter
They ended the matter
And yesterday's fight is the least of their cares,
While juries and judges
Must settle the grudges
Of parents who meddle in childrens's affairs.

SHOULD USE MORE MILK

In view of the general effort now being made by the agricultural leaders and general business interests in the South, and by the agricultural colleges and extension services of the Cotton States, to get the farmers to produce more livestock and more of other kinds of crops instead of too much cotton, the present is a highly opportune time to emphasize the fact that every Southern farm should keep a cow or two to furnish milk and butter for the home table, says O. E. Reed, chief of the Bureau of Dairy Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"On thousands of farms in the South there are no dairy cows at all, and on thousands of other farms where but one cow is kept there might be another one or two kept to advantaage, depending upon the number of people on the form for whom food must be provided, whether this food is produced on the farm or bought, says the Federal dairy chief.

"With a cow or two on the farm, in the case of the average farm in the cotton-growing parts of the South," says Mr. Reed, "the family would be better nourished and healthier, the land would be enriched so that crop production would be more profitable, and the outlay of cash money for feeding the farm family would be reduced materially. Milk and butter and other products made from milk, are highly nutritious, are digested easily, are builders of bodily resistance against poor health and disease, and contribute much to the enjoyment of meals. Not only are they palatable in themselves, but they also add palatablity to other foods.

"On the average farm, in most sections of the South, 2 to 4 acres of land of medium to good fertility will support 1 good dairy cow, and will furnish the forage, hay, and grain necessary for maintaining her in good production," says Mr. Reed. "In the case of the higher producing cow, it may be necessary to buy small amounts of wheat bran, cottonseed meal or other protein concentrates to balance the home-grown feeds in the ration.

"Many Southern crops are suitable for milk production. For pasture the South has the grasses, or a mixture of grasses and clovers. For silage it has these crops—corn, the sorghums, milo, soy beans, peas, oats, and others, and mixtures of some of these. For hay, grow alfalfa, soy beans, clover, lespedeza, cowpeas, or other legumes, or sudan grass. If the cow is a comparatively high producer, and you grow soy beans, oats, corn, barley, kafir, or other small grains to feed her, add some high-protein concentrate, such as cottonseed meal, to her ration. Limited amounts of straw, cottonseed hulls, corn stover, or other roughages of the sort, can be fed with economy when the cow is getting a legume (high-protein) hay of good quality.

"The dairy cow has a very important part to play in cutting down the cost of farm living and diversifying agriculture in the South. Diversification—putting the eggs in more than one basket instead of in just one, cotton—has a very important part to play in Southern agriculture.

"Speaking of the average farm, whether it be South or North, diversification means greater profit and more reliable income from farming."

DANGER IN COLDS.

How unfortunate it is that scientists who have been searching for the cause and cure of the common cold did not succeed before spring brought another open season for colds. More colds are contracted in the spring than any other time in the year and it is popularly believed the late-spring variety of cold is the most difficulty to cure.

Spring thaws, rains, sudden changes in temperature and balmy days that cause one to discard winter's raiment with reckless abandon will keep half the population sneezing and blowing until warm weather decides to put in the summer here.

Science and mothers have evolved many preparations and methods of treatment that afford some relief for a "mean cold" and sometimes stop them on the way, but they have been slow to find an infallible preventive. Some panaceas succeed with one patient and fail with the next.

One promising discovery was made through experiments conducted during the winter. It was found that among persons given baths twice a week in the ultra-violet rays of a mercury vapor lamp there is 50 per cent greater freedom from colds. The rays, it is believed, increase the resistance of the blood to the germs that cause colds and strengthen the delicate tissues through which bacteria enters the body.

A preventive and sure-cure for the cold must be found to reduce the misery of humanity, for a person with a cold is miserable, and to save thousands of lives. Neglected colds result in countless deaths every year.

TINKERS.

Dictionaries define a tinker as a mender of household utensils, one who goes from door to door with tools and appliances for mending. One authority adds that tinkers have usually been regarded as the lowest order of craftsmen. But the tinkering that has become a national pastime for Americans has no such professional meaning, though it is often "mending or repairing in a clumsy, bungling way."

Almost all men tinker with something these days, and some find their greatest recreation in tinkeering. There are men who buy old watches, automobiles, motorcycles, etc., for the joy of taking them apart—in short, tinkering. An interest in automobiles and gasoline launches is almost a career in itself—and a sort of culture.

Should anyone insinuate that tinkering is a waste of time there would be an army of handy men ready to arise in defense of the tinker.

Had it not been for the tinker most inventions would still be ideas awaiting some tinkering genius to put it to practical use. A great deal of the industrial progress the United States has made can be credited to the ability of brilliant men, who, not content with things as they were, tinkered with first one combination and then another until they had something new; something that had a profound influence on the lives of others.

Blessed is the wife of a tinker! Things get done in and about her home.

CAMPAIGN ON ILLITERACY.

Thirty-five of the States of the Union today are waging aggressive campaigns on illiteracy. Twenty-six of the forty-eight States have appointed State Committees and organized drives against illiteracy, under the guildance of the National Advisory Committee on Illiteracy, appointed last November by Secretary Wilbur, with the approval of President Hoover, and now concentrating on teaching as many of their citizens as they can how to read and write before the census man comes. They are as follows: Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Louisiana, Maine, Michigan, Mississippi, Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Texas, Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming, Iowa, and Missouri, Six other States, Kentucky, Tennessee, Massachusetts, Washington, and Utah and Nebraska, had already organized on a somewhat different basis and are carrying on campaigns. Three others are now forming the necessary organizations.

In this drive on illiteracy the Governors of the States, the State Superintendents of Education, State committees on illiteracy, County School Superintendents, and local committees, have carried the burden of work. The National Committee has laid down the general plan and furnished information and guidance.

The present drive is but an initial activity in a program that is to be carried on through the years until illiteracy in the United States is brought down to the irreducible minimum. It has already assumed such proportions as were never before reached in this field.

WAGNER'S WIDOW DIED TUESDAY IN GERMAN CAPITAL

FRAU COSIMA WAGNER WON FAME FOR NOTED COMPOSER AFTER HIS DEATH

BERLIN, April 1.—(AP)— Frau Cosima Wagner, widow of the famous composer, Richard Wagner, died today.

Frau Wagner had been confined to her bed for the past three years, during which time she seemed frequently at the point of death. Her illness was said to be sheer weakness from her age. She was 92.

Daughter and wife of two of the world's greatest musicians, Cosima Wagner held a unique place in the musical world as the real builder of Richard Wagner's world-wide reputation.

She played an even greater role than King Ludwig II in promoting the genius of Wagner. To her sympathetic assistance as much as to the Bavarian King's financial patronage, it was felt that the world owed the Ring operas, "The Meistersinger" and "Parsifal."

Bayreuth Festivals.

After her husband's death in 1883, Frau Wagner devoted all her ability and energy to the consecration of his memory by the great Bayreuth festivals. She achieved financial as well as artistic success in the festivals and continued to direct them personally until the later years of her life when she turned the task over to her only son, Siegfried Wagner.

Frau Wagner was born in 1839 at Bellagio, on Lake Como, the daughter of Franz Liszt and the Countess Marie d'Agoult who had left her husband in Paris for the celebrated pianist. As her mother was a gifted writer, widely known under the name of Daniel Stern, Cosima spent her childhood in an environment of musical and literary people. Thus, at the age of 13, she first saw Richard Wagner.

Her parents having separated, Cosima was sent to Germany to grow up under the care of Frau von Beulow. At 19 she was married to her guardian's son, Hans von Beulow, director of the Weimar orchestra. A few years later she again met Richard Wagner, the man who was to dominate her life. Although not legally separated from von Beulow until 1870, the second romance of her life began Wagner.

Brilliant and Striking.

Thereafter for 20 years, before as well as after her marriage to Wagner at Luzerne in 1870, she presided over musical salons that have few equals in history. Always a brilliant conversationalist and possessing a striking personality, Frau Wagner, in spite of her thin, almost angular figure and somewhat masculine features, had a rare charm and fascination for all with whom she came in contact.

She was the mother of three daughters by von Beulow, while the son Siegfried, and a daughter Eva were born of her marriage to Wagner. Eva Wagner became the wife of the English writer, Houston Stuart Chamberlain.

Enfeebled by her advanced age, Frau Wagner during her latter years was confined much of the time to her bed. She had lost her sight almost completely and received few people outside her children and occasionally one of her numerous grandchildren. One of the rare exceptions to the rule was General Ludendorff, to whom Frau Wagner and her son at one time were accused of having given large sums for the monarchistic cause.

Made Husband's Work Known.

With remarkable vitality and energy, Cosima Wagner, after her husband's death, undertook to make his work known to the world. Almost single handed, she developed the Bayreuth Wagner season into an artistic event of international importance, to which people of all countries flocked by thousands.

Her methods at times were condemned as domineering by some of her associates, among them Madame Lilli Lehmann, the famous soprano. The latter returned to sing in the Ring at Bayreuth, confident in the memory of having been personally coached by Wagner himself in the role of a Rhine maiden in 1876, at one of the earliest festivals. In her opinion, that entitled her to full freedom of interpretation in her role, but she was confronted with flat contradiction on several points from Cosima Wagner. She justified herself calmly by asking Siegfried "Didn't your father have it that way?"

"'I believe you are right, mother, Siegfried would always answer," Madame Lehmann wrote in her memoirs, "although he was only six in 1876."

Whatever Cosima Wagner's methods may have been, she made a success of the festivals. Under her husband's direction they lost money steadily and went so deeply into debt that Wagner in his 70th year was obliged to undertake a traveling director's contract. Under the management of Frau Wagner from 1883 to 1913 the festivals earned her a fortune estimated just before the World War at $5,000,000.

Income Reduced.

That, unfortunately, was invested in securities that became nearly worthless during the war and the post-war inflation period. It was reported at one time that Frau Wagner was reduced almost to poverty, but provision was made to protect her from need and worry. Her reduced income was somewhat augmented by the publication of Wagner's works and contributions from German theatre associations.

The Bayreuth festival of 1914 was brought to a sudden close in the midst of the singing of "Parsifal" by the news that Germany had declared war on Russia. The performance of "Parsifal" was not finished. When the doors of the Wagner Festival Theatre closed it seemed to many that they might never open again.

But the widow of the composer, then 75, thought differently and declared she would not die until the perpetuation of her husband's favorite hobby was assured. Ten years elapsed before a favorable opportunity was presented for the revival of the festival, which took place in the summer of 1924.

A month before the opening performance, Frau Wagner said: "If I can see one more Bayreuth festival I shall die happy." Her health did not permit her to attend, but she was content to sit on the veranda of her villa whence she could watch the crowds enter the theatre and her the distant echoes of the music that was such a vital part of her life. She remained to the last, in spite of her strict seclusion, a great Bayreuth tradition.

GENEALOGIES OF BIBLE DISCUSSED WEDNESDAY NIGHT

EVANGELIST HAM STRESSES SOME ANTECEDENTS OF PRESENT NATIONS

Genealogies, which have not been considered of much importance in the Bible, were declared by Dr. Mordecai Fowler Ham to be master keys of the Bible and the very life of the book on his sermon Wednesday evening, and went into detailed discussion of such lists contained in the Bible and through them traced the origin of nations on the face of the world today. In spite of the threatening weather and mud, there was a large crowd on hand for the service, with the large cotton warehouse comfortably filled with interested church members for the discussion.

The invocation was pronounced by Rev. T. C. Jensen, pastor of the Mildred Baptist church, following the opening song service.

In the beginning of his remarks, the evangelist stated that it was of utmost importance to the study of the Bible that the difference between the terms Semetic, Hebrew and Jew be made, and the importance of the birthright, which carried with it in the patriarchial form of government, the right to rule and possession of the wealth of the tribe.

Cause of Many Wars.

Contentions over the birthright was the cause of practically every war before the time of Jesus Christ, the speaker declared, with warring factions representing elder sons which renounced birthrights fighting to regain them.

Following the defining of the above terms, the speaker turned his remarks to the origin of nations today, and the possible alignment of world powers to keep the gospel alive throughout the world. The present alignment of Great Britain, America and Japan in international diplomacy was significant, the speaker declared, and was prophesied in the Bible.

Population of the world following the Exodus and Babylonian captivity for the tribes of Israel was traced in a very interesting way by the evangelist, who suggested the possible colonization of Europe and the British Isles by bands of Israelites.

In discussing the present status of the United States, the speaker declared that it was the greatest nation today, holding the balance of power in international diplomacy and most wealth. The country, he stated, was blessed in having presidents who have believed in the power of prayer and reverence for God.

Future of Race.

The Jews today, Dr. Ham declared ,were divided into three classes, the Orthodox, Reformed and Communistic, following the teachings of Carl Marx, the father of Communism. In accordance with Scriptural references and prophesies, Dr. Ham stated, the Jews would once more he returned to Palestine and mentioned the arrangement made at the Versailles Peace Conference where Palestine was once more under Jewish rule, protected by Great Britain.

In conclusion, the speaker declared that America had given to the world a great example in passing and enforcing the Eighteenth amendment, which he declared a success, in spite of the efforts of anti-Christian societies for repeal.

The subject for Thursday evening's sermon as announced at the meeting will be "The Fall of Man."

MISTRIAL ORDERED WHEN INDIAN WOMAN DEFENDANT IN MURDER CASE GROWS ILL

BUFFALO,, N. Y., April 3.—(AP)—Future steps in the prosecution of "Red Lilac," consumptive Cayuga Indian woman, for the murder of a white woman were uncertain today.

As the case was nearing the jury's hands, a mistrial was declared yesterday when it was learned it would beat least two weeks before Lila Jimerson could again face them.

A possibility remained that Lila might avoid a second trial by pleading guilty to murder in the second degree. As the 35-year-old Indian woman lay seriously ill on a hospital bed, an offer to accept such a plea was made by District Attorney Guy B. Moore who had been seeking a conviction of murder in the first degree.

One of Lila's counsel, John V. Maloney, advised her to accept the offer to plead to the lesser charge, but her other attorney, John S. Knibloe, opposed the plan. Accepting the latter's advice she refused the offer and a mistrial was declared.

Meanwhile, Henri Marchand, artist, is still held in jail as a material witness. The state charges that Lila, infatuated with Marchand, instigated the murder of Mrs. Marchand.

Also in the Erie county jail is 65-year-old Nancy Bowen, a tribeswoman of Lila's accused of the actual murder. No date has been set for her trial.

KANSAS FARMERS WARNED MAKE CUT IN WHEAT ACREAGE

TOPEKA, Kas., April 3. —(AP)—Kansas farmers, who annually produce about one-fifth of the nation's wheat, have been warned by the state board of agriculture to decrease their yield in order to combat a "situation already acute."

The warning was issued through fear that the problem of storing a large 1930 crop, because of a large 1929 carry over, would be a "serious one."

Resolution, made public yesterday, pointed out that the federal farm board had seen fit to remove millions of bushels of wheat from commercial channels in order to stabilize prices. Growers also were requested to provide suitable storage facilities "on the farm, or elsewhere," for this year's crop.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF R. J. GRAVES

About 2 o'clock on the morning of Feb. 7, 1930, the death angel came and claimed the life of Royal Jesse Graves, son of C. R. and Emma C. Graves of Rockett, Tex. He was born Oct. 20, 1879 at Rockett, Ellis county, Tex. Here he spent his childhood days. At the age of 13 he united with the Christian church of Rockett, where his membership remained until his death. The greater portion of his young manhood he spent in schools and colleges, preparing himself to battle with the hardships of life.

He was married March 24, 1912 to Miss Mary Hester Medrais, of near Corsicana. To this union three children were born; C. E., age 17 years, who survices him, a son who died in infancy and a little daughter, Edith Jester, who passed away at the age of fifteen months.

In 1926 his health began failing and he traveled extensively for several months to geain it. At the end of this time, having regained his health to a great extent, he was called home by the sudden illness and death of his mother. Since that time he has lived in Ada and Ardmore, Okla., where he resided at the time of his death.

It was hard to give him up. He was taken away so quickly, being ill only a few days. And Oh! there were days of constant suffering, but he bore it so patiently. We cannot understand why our happy homes are broken, but sooner or later we all must answer the call. To us it seems that he was taken before his work was finished, but with God it was complete.

What a sweet consolation to his loved ones is the expression made just a few hours before the end came, that he was meeting death without a fear.

He was ever thoughtful of his little family, always looking forward for their comforts and interests. He was a kind and obedient son, a loving father, a dear, thoughtful companion, and a loving and affectionate brother. And the sunshine with which he filled our homes on his frequent visits will never be forgotten.

Oh! how we will miss him, one so influential and of such a noble, sterling character. He was a man of culture and refinement, he was strong and courageous, always zealous for the right, yet gentle and considerate of the opinions of others. He was honest and diligent in business, truthful and clean in speech, kind and cheerful in action and made many friends with his big loving heart.

For many years he was a member of the Masonic lodge, a holder of the highest degree. He loved the lodge and to its work and ritual he contributed much of his time and the best of his talent.

We are happy to know that he leaves a record of which his son will be proud and that his father in his old age can have the satisfaction of knowing his son lived a worthy life, a life which the monuments of time can never destroy. In his death we have lost a good man and a true Christian.

Every one who knew him
Is filled with grief today,
Because this precious jewel
Has passed from earth away.

If we could draw the curtain back,
And see the future revealed,
Who knows the trouble and sorrow
That are in its folds concealed.

Let us be submissive to Him,
Let us say "Thy will be done,"
And press on in the batle
Till victory we have won.

We loved him, yes we loved him,
It seemed so hard to part,
But God knew best and called him
And will heal our broken hearts.

Our dear one is at rest,
His suffering here is o'er,
We will live to meet him.
On that sweet and peaceful shore.

Trust all with Jesus
Look to Him and say:
God was good in giving,
And just in taking away.

He was laid to rest in the Graves cemetery at Rockett, beneath a bower of beautiful flowers; a token of friendship. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Knight, pastor of the Christian church.

May God's richest blessings rest on the dear sweet wife and brave little son, and may he also scatter sunshine through their lives and guide them by his love.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Medaris and Mother.

understanding prevented the senate's representatives from relinquishing its amendments to the administrative provisions, embodying in the bill the export debenture farm relief plan and revoked the president's authority to alter tariff rates, vested in him by the flexible provisions of the law now in force.

Senator Watson, republican leader, said last night that in the course of the tariff debate a total of 1,010 democratic votes had been cast for increased rates or against decreases while the democrats sought to "screen their own actions behind a curtain of propaganda smoke."

Connally of Texas, he said, voted 21 times for increased rates and twelve times against decreases, while Sheppard of Texas, supported 32 increases and opposed 12 decreases.

Love Says He Will Not Quit For Anybody

DALLAS, April 2.—(AP)—Senator Thomas B. Love today denied what he termed "baseless press reports" that he would withdraw from the race for governor and become a candidate for lieutenant governor in event Dan Moody should announced for a third term.

"There are at this time 17 candidates in the face for governor of whom I am the only candidate who voted with the majority of the people of Texas in 1928 against Al Smith," Love said. "Why should I object to anybody else who voted for Al Smith running also if he wants to? Let there be no misunderstanding. I shall be in the race for governor to the end and I will win."

ARKANSAS MURDER VICTIM IDENTIFIED BY HIS FAMILY

BENTONVILLE, Ark., April 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Maud Pearman and her two children today identified the body of a man in a morgue at Gravette, near here, as William Robert Pearman, their husband and father, who has been missing from their home at Columbia, Mo., since March 21.

Pearman is believed by officers to have been slain in a plot to collect $200,000 life insurance which he alleedly took out while posing as another man.

Pearman's body with three bullet wounds in the head was found near Gravette Saturday. Authorities said it apparently was thrown beside the highway from an automobile.

Mrs. Pearman and her children, William, 21, and a daughter, Judie, 19, told police they knew nothing about the $200,000 insurance policy which Pearman is alleged to have taken out on his life at Kansas City while posing as William Folta, St. Louis land speculator.

Officers said they had information that Pearman conspired to collect the insurance fraudulently, but they believed he was "double crossed."

Mrs. Pearman said when her husband gave up his work as an automobile mechanic some time ago he told her he was working on a big land deal. It was in this connection she said, he went to Kansas City March 21.

NO ADVERTISING TO BE PERMITTED ALONG HIGHWAYS

CANDIDATES' POSTERS AND OTHER MATTERS FORBIDDEN STATE RIGHT-OF-WAY

Instructions have been received by J. W. Nichols, section foreman for Navarro county, state highway department, from Gibb Gilchrist, chief engineer, to prevent advertising of any class on the rights-of-way on public roads, particularly political posters.

Mr. Nichols stated that the department was following a policy inaugurated about three years ago when merchants and others were prevented from using the land adjacent to the highways, and the action against the candidates is in keeping with that policy. He asserted that the regulations would be enforced to the letter of the law.

The letter from the engineer follows:

To all division engineers:

This being campaign year will be very soon faced with the problem of candidates' posters and other advertising information of that nature on state highways. We have, for the past three years, barred advertising from the rights-of-way and this has prevented merchants and others from using said rights-of-way for informing the traveling public of their wares.

Two years ago we did not interfere with candidates' posters for the reason that many thousands of them were already on the rights of-way before we were aware of the extent of the problem, but we wish this year to consider such signs of the same nature as merchants' or business men's advertising and prohibit their erection on the rights-of-way.

We consider that with such notice given in advance it will not be detrimental to anyone and will be fair to all, and the commission does not believe that any discrimination should be made between candidates for public office and merchants or others advertising.

You should see that every section foreman gets this notice and if possible have it published in every local paper in Texas and any other method of getting this memorandum and these instructions to those who might otherwise use the highways for this purpose.

Yours very truly,
GIBB GILCHRIST,
State Highway Engineer.

TEXAS BASKETBALL CHAMPIONS PUT OUT CHAMPIONSHIP RACE

only three minutes to go, found their game and made a desperate rally that was ended only by the final shot.

Williams of the Cadets starred for his team with 10 points, while Myers, Denton left forward, scored 14 for his team.

Inability to cage free throws blasted Denton's late rally while failure to stall with their handsome lead almost ruined St. John's chances.

Missed Free Throws.

Eight times in the last four minutes of play, the Texans missed free throw attempts. All of them were close, but bounded out of the hoop. Only one free throw rebound was converted into a field goal.

Wisconsin teams are noted for their ability to keep the ball by stalling, but the cadets seemed to forget about that style of defensive play with their big lead, and the game almost over. Instead, they rushed forward trying to score more points, and Denton got the ball each time, cut through with a fast short crosscross game and climbed rapidly.

The anxious cadets also committed one personal foul after another in their dash, but the Texans made only one of them good out of nine tries.

Denton was the second victim of the cadets, who upset the Casper, Wyo., team, 33 to 17 yesterday. By their victory today, St. Johns jumped forward as favorites. Since Denton defeated Athens defending national champions, 24 to 19, in the semi-finals of the Texas state championship this year.

MODERN SCIENCE MAKING EFFORT TO UNRAVEL MURDER

CHICAGO, April 3.—(AP)—A modern scientific crime laboratory threw its resources into the search for the ribbon slayer of Mrs. Mildred Helsing today after police had practically abandoned hope of solving the mystery through the usual methods.

None of the clews found by police seemed to be any aid toward finding the person who strangled the young wife with a satin ribbon Tuesday evening. Even the black ribbon, found around her neck and at first considered a valuable clew, gave no hint of the slayer after other pieces, exactly like the death ribbon, were found in the apartment.

The recently organized criminal detection laboratory of Northwestern University was called into the case and today made a microspocic study involving the suspects police have rounded up, as well as the slain woman's husband, Reuben Helsing.

Eclipse of Sun Visible in California

MRS ISABEL M. LEWIS.

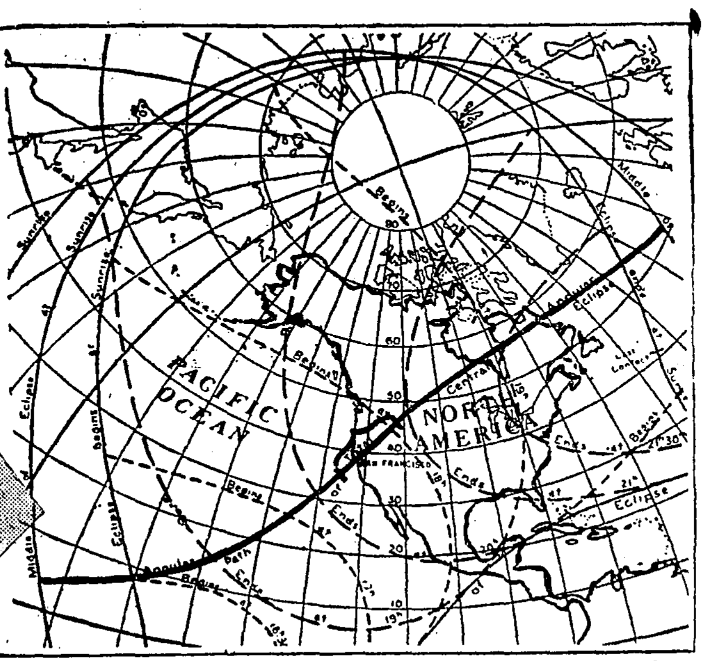

CHART SHOWING PATH OF THE ECLIPSE.

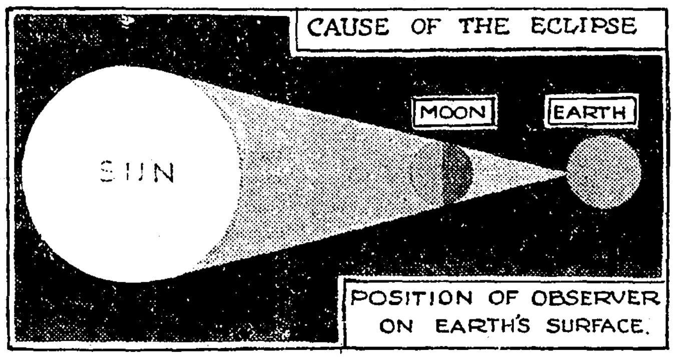

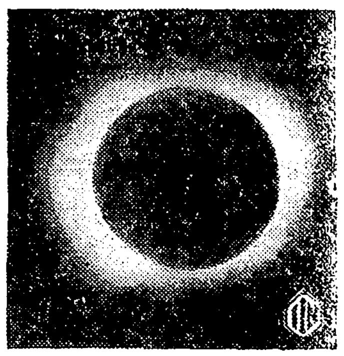

In order to maintain unbroken the historical record of solar eclipses, it has been arranged to send Mrs. Isabel M. Lewis, the observatory woman astronomer, to Honey Lake, Calif., to observe the total eclipse there at 11:05 a. m. on April 28. A specially built camera with a 46-inch focal length and a powerful lens will be used by Mrs. Lewis to observe the sun's corona—a beautiful gaseous glow that is visible only when it projects beyond the sun's disc during the eclipse. The chart shows that the total eclipse will be visible only in California. The eclipse will last a second and a half and the moon's shadow will be only half a mile wide.

ATTORNEY GENERAL FILES OBJECTION TO JONES LAW CHANGES

fine of $500. The Jones statute, he said, should have a longer trial period:

At the same time, the attorney general disapproved two bills by Representative Christopherson, republican, South Dakota, embodying plans for defining felonies and misdemeanors under the United States code and for setting up juryless trials before United States commissioners as had been recommended by the Hoover law enforcement commission.

He approved in general two other bills written by Christopherson and recommended to congress by the Hoover commission to relieve congestion in federal courts, but suggested several changes in these.

The attorney general would have the commission plan for trials by United States commissioners operative in district courts only when the judges order it, with the commissioners who would conduct the trials specifically designated. He urged that the maximun penalty for slight or casual violations be fixed at six months in jail, a $1000 fine or both, leaving the classification of minor cases to the discretion of the courts.

In addition the attorney general favored the modification of one commission measure by eliminating a provision which would give district attorneys authority to proceed against a dry law offender on a felony charge after being tried before a commissioner for a misdemeanor.

"The chairman of the commission," Mitchel wrote, "informs me he has no objection to these suggestions."

With reference to the Stobbs bill, Mitchell said that he was fearful that the result of the enactment of the measure, "will be to reduce the penalties for substantial violations, such as manufacture, sale and transportation, to a point below the penalties provided before the enactment of the Jones law."

Committee Fails Agree.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—(AP)—The house judiciary committee failed to agree today on prohibition proposals of the Hoover law enforcement commission, and deferred action until next Wednesday, when a decision on whether they will be approved is planned.

Predictions were made that the commission's bills to broaden the powers of the United States commissioners to hold juryless trials and to define misdemeanors under the dry laws would fail of committee approval.

Chairman Graham said the committee wanted to assist in formulating measures to bring about better law enforcement but added "we refuse to rush action on measures that would result in unscientific legislation."

Prominent Boston Man Surrenders and Says Accounts Short

BOSTON, April 3.—(AP)—George A. Rivinius of Winchester, Boston representative of the firm of George H. McFadden, Philadelphia cotton merchants, walked into a police station today and told officers, they said, he was short $457,213 in his accounts.

Ravinius, 45 years old, prominent socially and father of four children, blamed stock market losses for his predicament, police said.

Rivinius declared he wanted to be locked up because he was "afraid of what he might do."

SERIES OF BLASTS IN FIREWORKS PLANT PENNSYLVANIA TOWN

sylvania Fire Works Display company, Inc., at Devon, sixteen miles west of Philadelphia, today.

A number of bodies were found in the debris of the wrecked plant, and search was continued for others.

Fire companies from many of the suburban towns rushed to the scene of the blast and gave first aid to injured, using all sorts of vehicles to rush them to the hospital.

The explosion was so terrific it was felt and heard for many miles. Much damage was caused in the immediate vicinity.

Automobiles passing the plant at the time were said to have been thrown from the road.

Another Plant Damaged

The plant of Benjamin T. Dentner, short distance from the scene of the explosion, where 2000 persons were employed, was partly wrecked as large pieces of flying debris rained down on it.

When the first firemen arrived continued explosions in the plant prevented them from going close to the place.

Workmen in a switchtower of the Pennsylvania railroad at Devon, neraly a half mile away were thrown to the floor by the blast.

The town of Devon, in the midst of the fashionable suburban area west of Philadelphia, was in an uproar as one explosion followed another, breaking window glass and causing other damage.

An emergency call was sent to the Valley Forge Millitary Academy at Devon and Major Milton G. Baker, head of the academy, led the school's entire personnel of 250 cadets to the scene. They formed a guard around the plant and assisted in restoring order.

Several Hurt in New York Blasts

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP)—Several persons were reported injured in a series of explosions that blew off a dozen manhole covers in lower Broadway today where workmen were repairing a gas main.

The blasts occurred between 28th and 30th street. Police reserves were called out, and all persons immediately were ordered out of buildings in the vicinity, which includes several hotels.

The front wheels were blown off a wagon, which was passing over one of the man-holes when it blew up, and the horses were thrown to the pavement.

Patrolman Angelo Savatta was badly injured shortly after he arrived on the scene when another series of explosions ripped up the pavement.

William Huston, 49, of Dayton, Ohio, guest at the Hotel Breslin, was knocked unconscious by a fragment of pavement while standing in front of the hotel. He received a severe cut on the side of the head.

Two firemen and a traffic patrolman were slightly injured in the blast.

Buildings in the vicinity were rocked, and windows broken as far north as the Grand Hotel at 31st street.

ONE MEXICAN WAS KILLED; ANOTHER PLACED IN JAIL

SMUGGLING WARFARE FLARED UP AGAIN ALONG BORDER WEDNESDAY NIGHT

EL PASO, April 3. —(AP)— The morgue claimed one Mexican today and jailed another as liquor warfare flared again on the American border. The fight occurred in the rough sand hill country west of Anapra, N. M., and about 15 miles west of here when border patrolmen surprised the liquor smuggling party.

The dead man was identified as Lorenzo Galindo, while his partner, captured by the patrolmen, gave his name as Pablo Ortiz.

H. C. Horsley, chief patrol inspector, said Ortiz made a statement in which he admitted he and Galindo had accepted $3 each to smuggle a consignment of liquor into the United States. He said a can of Sotol Mexican rum had been confiscated.

The shooting, the fourth clash this year between smugglers and patrolmen to result fatally for a rum runner occurred last night. Galindo was shot through the chest and ankle when he fired at a party of officers who commanded him to halt.

The skirmish is the eighteenth to occur this year between smugglers and officers. In each instance where a killing has occurred a coroner's jury has exonerated the government men. No patrolmen have been killed although one was wounded.

Border patrolmen also surprised three smugglers near the end of Park street today and captured 44 gallons of liquor. The trio fled back to Mexico.

Thief Steals Three Hams From Farmer Near Petty's Chapel

Burglars entered the smokehouse at the home of W. H. Smith in the Petty's Chapel community Wednesday night and took three large hams. Nothing else was missing.

Mr. Smith traced the route of the prowlers from where they parked their car on a side road near his home. From the car they went to the barn where they secured a wagon wrench and wagon rod which they used to pry the lock off of the door. While at the barn they emptied a sack of salt, taking the sack with them, presumably to use in carrying the stolen meat.

WEST SIDE HOME DAMAGED BY FIRE EARLY THURSDAY

Fire originating in a closet of a house at 1323 West Tenth avenue resulted in damage estimated by Fire Chief Elmer Keith at $1300 about 6:30 Thursday morning.

The house was owned by H. B. Trauw, and was occupied by O. G. Sandres. Insurance of $1,000 was carried on the contents of the house and $800 on the house.

Members of the fire department were considerably handicapped by muddy streets, and wrong location given when the alarm was turned in. Members of the number two fire station crew who reached the scene of the fire first were seriously handicapped by people outside the house throwing bricks through windows, and creating drafts. Fire Chief Elmer Keith stated Thursday morning that the damage was considerably more as a result of the broken windows than it would have been if onlookers had allowed the department to keep the blaze confined to one room.

Newspaper Space Used To Push Ward Week Sale

The Ward week sale which is being advertised by the local Montgomery Ward & Co. store is a nation-wide event. More than 550 of the company's stores are participating. Mr. Lurker, manager of the local Montgomery Ward & Co. store said this morning, "This is not our first Ward week sale. If our past experience is repeated, every enterprising merchant in the city will profit by the crowds this sale will bring to Corsicana during the sale. Although we are using several different advertising methods to reach our customers within a radius of thirty or forty miles of the city, we are putting most of our effort into newspaper advertising.

"It is estimated that our company will spend nearly a million dollars for advertising in the local newspapers to make this sale a success. This evidence of our confidence in the pulling power of the local newspaper is not a matter of guess work. Our experience over a period of years has convinced us that there is no better medium for reaching the buying public.

"This April sale is intended tto stimulate a generally wide-spread interest not only in our store, but in the business enterprises of this community," the manager said.

The co-operation of every resident is imperative if Corsicana's population is to be accurately and completely recorded during the 14-day census period which starts April 2.

Do everything you can to help the enumerators. There are only a limited number of them and they have only a short time to work. Study the blank. It carries lines sufficient for the names and data on nine persons. The questions are those which the enumerator will ask you. If you fill out the form NOW, at your leisure, you will expedite his work. Mail it to Ed. Dupuy, Post Office building, or refer to it when the enumerator calls.

Your co-operation will greatly assist the census bureau and Corsicana in getting a full count of the local population.

under arrest early ths morning, a posse of officers left for the neighborhood where the three resided with warrants for their arrest.

A number of officers also were also en route to Goose Creek, nearest town to the scene of the drownings, to examine the body of Miller, recovered last night.

Three Men Arrested.

Justice of the Peace Flowers, in whose precinct the drownngs took place, and who held inquests over the bodies, denied any indication of violence was apparent.

Gress, Cunningham and Mahley were subsequently arrested at their homes near the San Jacinto river some 30 miles from here.

Miss Larry's statement quoted Mahley as telling Mrs. Proctor that the "less she said about the affair the better off she would be," and said Cunningham had declared: "Well, if there are any bruises on them (the bodies), they'll get us."

Mrs. Proctor asserted that Mahley had told her "the best thing I could do would be to leave and not to talk to any laws or I would get in trouble."

"Albert Miller told me," her statement continued, "that Nick (Gress) was jealous of Albert and myself going together, and I know Nick's wife was jealous of Albert and I going together. Albert used to live at Nick's house. Some time in January Albert and Nick had a falling out about Nick's wife, and Nick and his wife separated, but Albert told her to go back to her husband."

Remark Starts Probe.

She described also how Miller had told her, shortly before the start of the "fishing trip," he had "found out Nick was trying to undermine him."

A casual remark made by Miss Larry to a policeman last night at a street crnival led to the arrests.

Cunningham, 35, operates a small garage; Gress, 24, said he was a farmer, and Mahley, 24, said he had worked with local cement company until a month ago.

The district attorney's office said an autopsy would be held on the bodies of the victims.

Miss Proctor's statement, condensed, was in effect as follows: She said she had been living for two or three days with Albert Miller and his father in their house on the San Jacinto river.

"About 4 p. m. Monday, Pete, the negro, came to the house and asked for Albert. Albert was away at the time hunting rabbits with Bill Scott and Nick Gress.

"Pretty soon Albert came back and he and Pete talked a long time by themselves.

"While they were talking Albert's father and I watched a pig swim across the river. Albert came up to Mr. Miller and I pretty soon and said:

"'I've found out something I've been wanting to know for a long time. Nick is trying to undermine me.'"

Started Up River.

"Just at that moment Cunningham and Robert Mahley called. About 8 p. m. Albert told us goodbye and said he had to go up the river on business and would be back in about an hour, Pete asked if he could go, too, and said, yes, if Pete wanted to.

"So about 8 p. m. Cunningham, Gress, Albert, Joe Scott and Pete left the house. I didn't see any of them until 1 a. m. when Gress called from across the river for a skiff. Mr. Miller and I rowed over and got Gress and two men, one who said he was George Miller and a man called Johnnie.

"Gress said Albert, Pete and Joe had drowned when the water hose connection in the boat came loose and the boat sank.

"We all went back immediately and started looking for the bodies.

"I know that Albert and Joe were both good swimmers.

"After we had looked for the bodies, Nick said the best thing to do was not talk to any laws or make any statements about it to anybody.

"I had heard that Cunningham was operating a still across an island on the other side of the river from where I stayed with the Millers."

The statement from Miss Lary was substantially as follows:

She said she had known Mr. Mahley about three years.

"Robert Mahley came to my house Tuesday and left a girl named Aimee Proctor with me, saying the girl's sweetheart had been drowned and he didn't want her staying out on the river where he had found her. He said to not let Aimee talk to anyone about the drowning.

"Mr. Mahley came back again Wednesday and said he was going back to the river. Aimee wanted to go, too, and he gave her bus fare to the river. We both went back, Aimee and I, and found a large crowd at the bridge.

"Mahley again said to keep Aimee from talking to anyone. A man named Jack Miller said there had been some whiskey making in the vicinity and if the girl talked it would cause trouble.

Met Policeman.

"Wednesday night Aimee and I went to a carnival and met a policeman friend. He took us home and when we drove up Mahley came out and wanted to know why we were with the law.

"I told him the policeman was an old friend.

"Aimee told me while at the carnival that she thought the men were killed because she heard Cunningham say that if any bruises were found on the bodies it would mean serious trouble for them.

"Aimee said that Cunningham told her that Pete, the negro, stood up in the rear of the boat and turned it over."

Brief mention of the drownings, of a nature not disclosed, excited the policeman's curiosity, and he asked them to go with him to headquarters and make statements. On this chance happening, the arrests were based.

French for a position from which it might be suggested to Italy that, since everybody's security was guaranteed, the Mussolini government might abandon its clair for naval parity with France.

Behind all the talk of a security rarangement there has run a current of speculation as to the extent of reductions in the French naval program which M. Briand will make in return. If his answer was to be found in published statements credited to him today, these same observers saw considerable further negotiations before a five powre limitation pact is reached.

It was said to be the French foreign minister's view that a French-British security arrnagement, if and when reached, will be outside the naval conference, will benefit all members of the League of Nations, and will offer no reason why France should make any special naval reductions, which rather should be made proportionately by all the powers.

Jap Organizations Protest Agreement

TOKYO, April 3.—(AP)—Under the auspices of the famous "Black Dragon Society" and other nationalistic organizations, an open air demonstration against the Japanese cabinet's acceptance of the London naval formula ws held in Shiba Park today.

Although today was a national holiday, being the anniversary of the death of Japan's legendary first emperor, Jimmu Tenno, and fine spring weather prevailed, the attendance of about 2,000 was relatively small.

The meeting passed resolutions vigorously criticizing the government's decision, which the speakers excoriated as humiliating surrender of means of national defense in the face of American demands. Remised the majority of the speakers.

WING WALKER AND PARACHUTE JUMPER BE HERE SUNDAY

CAPTAIN GEORGE BABCOCK WILL STAGE EXHIBITION AT LOCAL AIRPORT

Captain George Babcock, wing-walker and parachute jumper, will stage an exhibition at the Corsicana Municipal Airport Sunday afternoon, April 6, Harold J. Nichols, airport manager announced Tuesday.

After several months of inactivity because of impassable roads to the flying field, the Corsicana pilot is planning to renew activities and interest in aviation in this city. The field is in excellent condition and adequate entrances are being provided to the parking areas.

Attendants at the opening of the Corsicana flying field last April will remember Captain Babcock as the man who performed a number of wing walking stunts and a number of parachute drops.

Special rates will be in effect on airplane rides Sunday, according to present plans. Additional details will be announced later in the week.

Pilot Nichols visited the Tyler municipal airport Sunday and reports that field in fine condition, wth adequate hangar and flying facilities. The Delta Flying Service will include Tyler on one of its routes through Texas. An expenditure of about $10,000 is proposed to oil the Tyler port and keep it in good shape throughout the year.

LUNCHEON CLUBS AND GUESTS HEARD TEXAS GOVERNOR

MOODY TALKS ON IDEALS AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF SUCH ORGANIZATIONS

Governor Dan Moody of Texas addressed the three luncheon clubs, Lions, Rotary and Civitan clubs, and a number of other Corsicana citizens, at the Navarro Hotel Tuesday noon, on what the luncheon clubs, in his opinion, had in the furtherance of American ideals and the making of the country a better place in which to live. He was introduced by Beauford H. Jester, president of the Navarro county Bar association, and regent of the University of Texas| Governor Moody was accompnaied to Corsicana by W. A. Tarver, formerly of Corsicana, now chairman of the Texas Insurance commission, and Banking Commissioner Jim Shaw and Mrs. Shaw, from Dallas.

After placing a wreath on the Navarro memorial to the boys of the county who served during the world war, which is located in the Corsicana city park, and a tour of inspection of the State Orphans' Home here as the guest of J. S. Halley, superintendent of the home, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Shaw, Mr. Tarver, Repersentative A. N. Justiss from Navarro county and Representative Adrain Poole of El Paso, Governor Moody and party left via automobile for Austin early Tuesday afternoon.

C. W. Taylor, president of the Lions club, presided at the meeting. Festus A. Pierce, president of the Civitan club, made announcements concerning program committees and thanked the Lions for the opportunity of meeting to honor the chief executive. Ted B. Ferguson, president of the Rotary club, thanked the Lions for the opportunity of joining in the meeting to honor Governor Moody.

Greeted By Band

The governor's party were greeted when they arrived at the Navarro hotel by the State Orphans' Home band under the direction of Joel C. Trimble, bandmaster.

E. M. Baker of Dallas, federal referee in bankruptcy, and John Singleton, Waxahachie, were also guests.

The invocation was given by Rotarian H. J. Ellis, rector of St. John's Episcopal church. The club singing was led by Gabe Goldberg, Lion song-leader. "The Eyes of Texas," and "America" were given.

The committee in charge of the program Tuesday was composed of E. D. McCarver, chairman; Liston Tatum and F. W. Smith of the Lions club; Ted B. Ferguson and J. S. Halley, Rotary club; and Festus A. Pierce, Civitan club.

Jester Introduces Moody

Chairman McCarver presented Mr. Jester who introduced the governor. He stated that it was a momentous occasion in the history of luncheon clubs when they were honored by addresses given by the chief executive of the state. He said that Moody was the thirty-first attorney-general to take the oath of office and the twenty-eighth governor of Texas. He declared that when the history of the accomplishments of the governor of Texas has been written, the career and life of Dan Moody would be in colorful relief. Moody was also the youngest man ever to be governor of Texas. Mr. Jester declared that the people of Texas did not have to go back to the "good old times" to find a governor who was honest ,fearless, true and brave to be held up before the youth of the country as an example.

Mr. Jester referred to Moody's fearlessness in the times when honesty and fearlessness was needed. Moody was district attorney in 1923-1924, and was attorney-general in 1925-1926, and that through his own fearlessness, fairness and honesty, had restored the office of the governor of Texas into the confidences and esteem of the people that it enjoyed during the regimes of Houston, Coke, Culberson, Hogg, Roberts and others. He also declared that Moody was swept into the governor's office by the largest vote ever accorded a candidate in the history of Texas.

Governor Speaks

In the beginning of his remarks, Governor Moody declared that he had rather have the confidence and respect and the friendship of the people than any office or riches. He declared that he appreciated the words of Mr. Jester and expressed appreciation for the invitation to be on hand for this occassion. He said that this was the first time that he had ever addressed three luncheon clubs at one time.

Governor Moody humorously referred to the last time he was in Corsicana when the car in which he was riding was stopped by one of the speed cops here for speeding, but finally managed to get out of town without the payment of a fine. Continuing, the speaker admitted that he owed a great deal to citizens of Corsicana for friendship. He referred to the friendships he made when he went on the all-Texas special train through the East in 1927, and he stated that unless it had been for Corsicana citizens, the special would not have been a success. He referred to E. D. McCarver, Lowry Martin, Sydney Marks, G. C. Hudson and others who were on that special train to advertise Texas in the East.

Turning to another phase of his remarks, Governor Moody stated that in his opinion he had not done anything better for the University of Texas since he had been governor than the appointment of Beauford H. Jester as regent of the university. This remark was greeted with considerable applause. He also referred to his appointment of W. A. Tarver as chairman of the Texas Insurance commission and the selection of Tarver for the post that has many problems to deal with, scraps, etc. He said that Tarver could handle the post.

Discusses Luncheon Clubs.

Launching into the main theme of his address, Governor Moody declared that luncheon clubs had become fixed institutions in the present day life during the last decade. He said he was a young man but could remember the turning from the kerosene lamps to electric lights; buggies to automobiles, aviation, radios, etc.

He declared that people were traveling along at a rapid rate and that the luncheon clubs were having considerable to do with the progress of the present time. He said that chambers of commerce sometimes become highly commercialized and do a great service in advertising communities, etc., but sometimes become too much so. The luncheon clubs carry on the things worth while. He said there was plenty for both chambers of commerce and luncheon clubs to do and he referred to the great amount of work being done.

"Luncheon clubs eliminate petty jealousies," the governor continued, "and often show to a man good in a man he did not like." By getting together abou the luncheon tables the citizens bring new hotels, carry bond issues for streets and roads, and unite for the advancement of the community.

Professional Ethics.

He referred to the ethics of high standing maintained among a number of the professions and showed how the luncheon clubs were fostering a high standard of fair dealing and honesty in business for all classes of citizens in a community.

He referred to the fostering of a school system as the most important thing in the government and characterized education as the allomportant thing for the continued operation of a free government. "The masses must be educated before self-government is possible or a mighty empire builded with high ideals," Governor Moody continued.

He declared that it was not the great army, ships, imposing cities like New York City, San Francisco, and others that make America great, nor the great army that America put in the field in 1917-1918, but the ideals of America that caused these material things to be possible. The governor stated that in his opinion the luncheon clubs were doing a great work along that line by fostering the high ideals and the keeping of Americas ideals high. He declared the real ideals of America were expressed by Washington, Lee, Wilson and other of the really great leaders of America.

Chairman Taylor stated that he had been at a luncheon in Dallas many years ago when a man was asked to speak after Wm. Jennings Bryan had spoken, but declined to speak, and he declined to speak or have anyone else speak following Governor Moody.

New York Cotton Steady.

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 1 to 6 points. There was some buying on relatively steady cables, but there were also overnight selling orders, particularly in the near months. Liquidation apparently included realizing and selling for a reaction, based upon the extent of recent advances and a less active demand for old crop months. By the end of the first half hour May was off to 16.23 and new October to 15.53. Active months showed net declines of about 6 to 9 points.

Trading was moderately active later with the decline extending to 16.17 for May and 15.46 for new October, or about 13 to 18 points net lower under continued realizing and selling for a reaction. The latter appeared to be encouraged by slackening demand for near months, and there were rumors some cotton was to be brought here from the South for delivery. At mid-day the maket was barely steady and within 2 or 3 points of the lowest.

Futures closed very steady, 17 to 24 points higher. Spot steady; middling 16.80.

New Orleans Cotton Irregular.

NEW ORLEANS, April 3.—(AP)—Cables were better than due today, and cotton opened somewhat irregular. First trades were 1 point to 4 points down. The market eased off after the call, May trading down to 15.93, July to 16.3 and October to 15.54, or 7 to 10 points down from yesterday's close. At the end of the first hour, the market was steady, but at the lows.

The market ruled rather quiet all morning, and prices on old crop months gradually eased off, mainly due to a weakened technical position. May dropped to 15.81 and July to 15.01, or 21 points below the previous close. New crop months were comparatively steady, October losing only 9 points, at 15.52. Unfavorable weather in the belt supported the new crops. At noon the market was steady and at the lows.

Grain and Provisions

CHICAGO, April 3.—(AP)—Southwestern reports of topsoil dry as ashes sent wheat soaring today.

Opening 1-2@1 1-2c up, wheat later scored qick additional gains. Corn and oats were firmer, with corn starting 1-2 to 3-4c higher and afterward continuing upgrade. Provisions tended lower.

Wheat closed feverish at a maximum jump of 5 1-8c a bushel for the day, with the market as a whole ranging from 2 1-2 to 5 1-8c higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1 1-2@2 1-4c up, oats 1-2@ 1c advanced and provisions showing 2-27c gain.

PROPERTY LINE ALLEGED CAUSE OF MAN'S SLAYING

MINERAL WELLS, April 1.—(AP)—Ed Brooks, 47, of Dallas was shot and killed near the home of his father three miles east of here today. H. C. Stubblefield, 62, came here and surrendered. A charge of murder was filed against him.

The shooting was said to have grown out of a dispute over property lines between Brooks and Stubblefield. A survey, it was reported, showed Stubblefield's fence was 30 feet on the Brooks property. Early today Brooks and his father were making arrangements to move a fence on the line of the new survey.

Brooks died shortly after the shooting of buckshot wounds in the head. Stubblefield was placed in the Palo Pinto county jail to await examining trial.

YEAR-ROUND PLAN SCHOOL OPERATION GIVEN EDUCATORS

FORT WORTH, April 3.—(AP)—Educators of Texas today had before them a plan offered by R. T. Ellis, secretary of the Texas State Teachers' Association, for year-round operation of public schools as a solution of numerous problems of the school system.

Ellis, in an address yesterday before the Social Service Club here, presented his plan in declaring that "public educational institutions still are operating on the lines of 100 years ago."

"We are modern in buildings, equipment and in everything except this matter of leaving costly plants idle three or four months each year," he said. "There are many inequalities suffered by various classes under the present system that would be relieved by a 12-month school year. Taxpayers would be saved much money in operating costs and in bond issues for new buildings if the present plants were operated throughout the year."

He proposed that the school year be divided into three terms of 17 weeks each, permitting a student to attend the two terms most convenient.

IDENTIFICATION OF MAN'S BODY HOPED MAY LEAD SOLUTION

SAN ANGELO, April 1.—(AP)—Hoping to clear up at least one murder and possibly find a lead to two others, authorities today continued an investigation which has disclosed that the body found in the Pecos river near Imperial March 25 was that of H. M. Poland, from Montana.

Five persons who saw Poland at the cattlemen's convention here two weeks ago indentified the man from pictures taken after the body was recovered. It was learned from a woman companion of Poland's here that he left March 22.

A few weeks before the body was discovered, the bodies of a woman and girl were found near the same place. Clothing had been stripped from all three bodies.

Professional Gambler.

PLENTY WOOD, Mont., April 1.—(AP)—Henry M. Poland, whose body was fonud in the Pecos river, was one of the first settlers in the northeastern corner of Montana and later a professional gambler. Before taking up a homestead here in 1909, he operated a pool hall at Crosby, N. D.

After several years of crop failure, Poland turned to cards. Here, as in Fort Worth, Texas, where he frequented a recreation club, he was known to carry large sums of money. He left Plenty Wood several years ago and returned on a visit in 1928. During his stay he was connected by the police with several shooting scrapes. No one here possesses any knowledge regarding Poland's relatives.

Symbol of Death Is Also Christendom's Sign of Life

Profound Philosophy of the Cross-Principle, Which Puts Depth Into Eyes and Fortitude into Hearts —When Jesus faced His Fate.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Over in Russia the soviets are tearing down the cross. They hate it, as the symbol of religion and also as the expression of the old life of the nation. They abhor the cross, and all that it represents, because their philosophy is purely material; and they are promising a present paradise for everybody in which there will be no suffering.

In this policy, Soviet Russia is giving the surest sign of its failure. Even a pagan thinker knows that the cross-principle cannot be eliminated from human life. And the Christian also knows that the Cross of Christ, which has been increasingly victorious throughout the earth for nineteen centuries, is not going down to defeat before the attacks of a crowd of infidel bolsheviks in the unhappiest land in the world. The church may be crucified in Russia, but only to have a triumphant resurrection.

"In Hoc Signo Vinces"

We are so used to Christianity that we have lost all sense of amazement over the cross- teachings and cross-experience of Jesus. Even His dearest friends and closest companions could not really comprehend this new and startling idea. Those who from the first ecepted His claims to Messiaship expected Him to declare Himself a king and conqueror, and to set up a worldly empire. Their minds worked along conventional lines and according to ordinary precedents. They would have been content with a revival of David's little kingdom in the circumscribed area along the northeastern shore of the Mediterranean. The vastness of the Christ's spiritual kingdom was beyond the range of their natural comprehension.

So Jesus took the twelve apart with Him to the region above the lake, and, in what is often called "The Pasison of the North," opened His heart to them and showed them the Cross thereon. Plainly, in unmistakeable words, He portrayed His own cruel fate of crucifixion that was impending. The burden that He bore hourly in His innermost spirit, He permitted them to glimpse for a brief instant: showing them that they, too, and all who would be His disciples, must walk the solitary way of the Cross.

Even so, in this season of intimate self-revelation by their sympathy-seeking Friend the disciples were blind to the ful limport of what Jesus wanted them to understand.

A Bit of Local Color.

Few travelers ever see Caesarea Philippi, the scene of this tremendous experience of Christ and the disciples. The modern name is Banias, or Panias, after the temple to the Greek God Pan which is there.

These very names invest the spot with dramatic significance. "Caesarea Philippi" recalls two projects of imperaialism—those of Philip of Macedon and of the Roman Caesars. And "Pan" stood for the pleasure-loving philosophy which the Greeks had bound up in their religion.

As Jesus underwent the agony of a fearless fronting of his fate, He was thus surrounded by the symbols of a world that was the direct antithesis of the cross-principle. Indeed, the very name of the cros was at that time odious and degrading, as an emblem of criminality and base punishment. Amidst this environment, Jesus established the symbol of death as the sign of life. The lesson takes an added poignancy from its background.

Peter and the Easy Way.

Paradoxical Peter, the mercurial man who would have made a typical modern, in a flash of spiritual perception and loyal recognition, had acclaimed the Master as the Messiah.

Then, when Jesus, bursting with hunger for sympathy and fellowship in His suffering from those whom He loved best, set forth the ominous portent of the Cross, Peter would have none of it. Impulsively, with an absurd assumption of authority, he forbade the Master to tread the "Via Dolorosa"—and was likened unto Satan for his presumptuous blunder.

Our day would vote for Peter's plan. We are all for the easiest way. Our politics, our philosophies, our sciences, all are aimed at making life comfortable and pleasant and painless. Soft circumstances are the contemporary social goal.

Sturdy souls were once the objective of religion and education; now we are more concerned over a man's lot than over man's life. Robust spirits, which can rise above any fate, may scarcely be called fashionable today. The modern father's desire for his children is to leave them a competnce, so that they will not have to battle with the world as he had to do. By that program myriads of young people are being suffocated and enervated.

Tired Eyes or Deep Eyes.

Is it too pessimistic to say that one looks into more tired eyes than quiet, deep, peaceful, assured eyes in the course of a day's journeying? Jaded youth, wearied age, whole groups of persons seeking, by fantastic ways, to get a "kick" out of life, are one clear consequence of our having put pleasure and comfort first.

As Jesus knew and taught, life is not all ease and play. They alone master fate who have learned how to suffer and to endure and still to strive. The cross is the key that unlocks the mystery of existence. We may pity the person who has never suffered deeply. For it is cross-bearing souls in the shadowed valley, who come into fellowship with the cross-bearing Christ. The real light of His life is revealed in the shadow of the cross.

When Death Leads to Life.

Fate cannot hurt the spirit that is not afraid of suffering or of death. Victory is always with those who dare to die for a truth, a cause, a service. In the profound philosophy of Jesus, the cross-bearers are the life-sharers. Only those who have been willing to be lifted up on some Cavary have drawn me nunto them.

As He faced, with unblanched face and unblinking eyes, the crucifixion which He so clearly saw awaiting Him, Jesus taught His friends, for whom He coveted earnestly the best gifts, that the way home is he Way of the Cross. The road of redempion runs over the hill called Calvary. It behooved Him to suffer and to die, that mankind might live. Later, made wiser by experience and by the Spirit, these same disciples were also to walk the "Vio Crucis." And in all the experience of the Christian church, her days of power have been her times when the Cross was most real to her; when suffering and opposition and persecution were her lot. It is the Cross of Christ that breaks man's stubborn will and melts his heart.

Wrung From a Poet' Heart.

Dr. George Matheson, the blind Scotch preacher, once underwent an intense personal experience of suffering. This was not his deprivation of sight; nor, as the common story has it, his rejection on account of his affliction by the woman he loved; for he had been blind for twenty-five years when he wrote his famous hymn.

But on June 6, 1882, as he himself has told the story, he passed through "the most severe mental suffering." The hymn was the fruit of that suffering." In the space of five minutes he penned the immortal lines, "O Love that wilt not let me go," which ends in the heart-rending cry of resignation, a veritable echo of Gethsemane:

"O cross that liftest up my head,
I dare not ask to fly from thee,
I lay in dust life's glory dead,
And from the ground there bossoms red,
Life that shall endless be."

GOVERNOR MOODY HONORS NAVARRO COUNTY WAR DEAD

ADDRESSED STUDENTS OF STATE AND ODD FELLOWS HOMES HERE TUESDAY

Placing a wreath on the memorial to Navarro county's war dead, Governor Dan Moody continued his tour of the city of Corsicana, and addressed the students of the State and Odd Fellows Homes before continuing via automobile to Austin late Tuesday. Attaches of the State Home declared it was the first time in more than six years that the chief executive of the state had visited the home.

Immediately after the joint meeting of the luncheon clubs of the city at the Navarro hotel, the governor and party went to the city park where the executive placed a wreath of red and white carnations centered with the emblem of the American Legion on the monument sponsored by the Lions Club and erected by the contributions of the town and county.

W. A. Tarver, former Corsicana resident, now commissioner of insurance, completed the brief ceremoney by invoking the aid of God in living worthily of the men who had fallen. Among those attending the rites were Col. Charles A. Davis, Governor Moody, Representative A. N. Justiss, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Shaw, Andrew G. Steele, post commander of American Legion; J. A. McMahon, Dr. E. P. Norwood, J. A. Travis, Ted B. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. McCarver, Mrs. George T. Jester, little Miss Barbara Jester, Mrs. Sue M. Castles, and J. S. Halley.

Visited State Home

The party then went to the State Home, after adding A. A. Allison to the party, where they were greeted by the State Home band. Superintendent J. S. Halley introduced the governor after two songs by the assembled students.

Moody told the students that it was his first trip to the home, and that after seeing it, he was proud of the record of the state of Texas in providing such a home and school for its children, and that he realized more than ever that it was worthwhile in a large way.

Children of America are fortunate according to the governor because there is no peerage or class, and there is no bar to the progress of a person. The highest place in life is in the reach of every person he asserted, and no power can tell what might be in the children of the home. Perhaps the leading lights of the legal profession, medicine, ministry and teaching profession of tomorrow might be waiting for an inspiration.

He closed his short talk with an appeal to the children to exert their effort and energy to a broader life in the future, to build an ambition to achieve greatness, not in the accumulation of a great fortune, but in service to others.

At the close of his talk he shook hands with between 600 and 700 of the students as they passed in review.

At Odd Fellows Home

The governor then paid a short visit to the I. O. O. F. Home, where the party was greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Ross Harris; the students were assembled in the auditorium in a few minutes. Mr. Harris presented W. A. Tarver, former Sunday school superintendent at the home, who introduced Gov. Moody.

The chief executive quickly checked the number of students present in each grade and when no representatives of the senior class were present, he laughed with his audience at their "April fool" stunt of playing truant.

Moody declared that he had been an Odd Fellow for about sixteen years. He asserted that he believed that the supreme incentive of the order was not the secrecy of its ritual, but the boys and girls in the home, and the desire to be of service to others. Back of the children he declared were the best wishes and hopes of every member of the order, and when they achieved honors, they reflected credit on the entire organization.

Honesty and proper behaviour were declared to be the best qualifications of life, and notwithstanding physical differences, each child has the same opportunity of success. He advised the children to aim high and strive for their goals.

Governor Moody, Commissioners Tarver and Shaw, and Mrs. Shaw left shortly before 4 o'clock for Austin via automobile.

MAMMOTH BONNET BEING MODE FOR OKLAHOMA OIL WELL

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., April 3 —(AP)—Hope of curbing the flow of the Mary Sudik No. 1, mammoth Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company gusher in the Oklahoma City field and the most troublesome outlaw in the history of the Mid-continent area, rested today in Homer Craig of Tampico, Mexico, and a new bonnet which he will try to slip over the well during the day. This was the announcement here this afternoon by H. V. Foster, president of the company.

Craig, an oil engineer, has made a specialty of handling wild wells. He was summoned yesterday by wire from Tampico by Foster and set out for Oklahoma City by airplane. He will take charge of the operations immediately upon his arrival, which was expected momentarily.

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 3.—(AP) —Hemmed about by a zone of solitude in which only those persons having most urgent business were permitted, the Mary Sudik number 1, mammoth gusher, running wild for more than a week, today awaited a new "bonnet."

Hurling oil over the countryside for miles around, the well, property of the I. T. I. O. company, virtually saturated the South Oklahome City field with oil. This condition created such a menace from possible fire, that C. R. O'Neal, state fire marshal, late yesterday designated a "fire hazard zone" for two miles about the big well. Guards were stationed with orders to halt all persons not bearing passes or permits.

The mammoth "bonnet," constructed by engineers especially for the well, which ripped out casings and connections through the force of its gas flow of 200,000,000 cubic feet a day, weighed 3,000 pounds. It was a master gate, equipped with special connections which would permit it to be anchored into place, once settled over the top of the casing. The "bonnet" was fitted with a series of valves, so the well could be put under control once it is in place.
